Fellow Exchangites:

Tuesday, November 7th, is to be another one of those big red letter days at Harry Heathman's Hotel. William L. Finley, an Oregon man, who has attained world renown as a naturalist and photographer of wild life is to present the program. He will be assisted by his son, William.

They are bringing two reels showing motion pictures which depict the intimate family life of wild animals and birds of the Northwest.

If you have never seen any of the Finley pictures, you should see these by all means. If you have seen some of them, you will want to see more. There are no better pictures in existence.

President Bob says we may bring our wives;--in fact, he urges and insists that we bring them and any other guests we wish. This will be a good meeting for prospective members.

Do not forget the time and place and--as you value your life--do not forget the wife. Also do not forget the other guests.

Exchangely yours,

Ed. F. Averill
