Beautiful New Women's Building to Stand by Cauthorn

The new Women's Building, now being built on the campus between Cauthorn Hall and the Agricultural Engineering Building, facing Agriculture Hall, and at right angles to Home Economics, is to be the largest and most beautiful building on the campus. Its cost complete will be approximately $300,000.

Constructed of red ruffled brick, with terra cotta and stone trimmings, it will have the general outside effect of the Men's Gymnasium, having a three story center section and two wings, each two stories high, all above ground. Architecturally its exterior lines have a suggestion of the chaste simplicity and dignity of the Boston Public Library. While the building harmonizes with the other structures on the O. A. C. campus, having the massive dignity and simplicity that prevails throughout the new campus, it will have touches of beauty and elegance, befitting its purpose, that have not been bestowed upon other College buildings, even the Library. Circle-top windows are among the features that add grace to the exterior of the building.

Includes Many Desirable Features

The outside dimensions of the building are 256 feet by 135 feet, the main facade fronting east. Conspicuous features of the building are the main gymnasium 70 by 108 feet, the games room, 45 by 69 feet, the aesthetic dancing room 35 by 60 feet, and the main lounge room, next to the lobby, 33 by 47 feet, all on the second floor; the swimming pool, 35 by 78 feet; the shower and locker rooms, the lobby and vestibule, and the loggia, 114 by 12 feet, on the first floor; and the kitchen, rest room, small lounge, and Delta Psi Kappa quarters on the third floor.

The entrance to the building will be dignified and attractive. The long narrow loggia on the first story, with tile floor, granite baseboard, and attractive wall construction, leads by a stair hall and vestibule, finished in marble and walnut, up to the north and south lobbies on the second floor. The arrangement is such that pageants can be effectively staged here on successive levels.

The main gymnasium floor is surrounded by a balcony, has a hardwood floor, and smooth brick walls, and is modern in every essential. Large doorways from the main gymnasium to the lobby and to the games room, will provide ample room for large gatherings of people, receptions, pageants, and other festive and social occasions. For regular gymnasium purposes the great room is advantageously located and provided with special conveniences such as a ramp leading up from the dressing rooms and showers, thus eliminating stairs.

Swimming Pool Ample and Complete

The swimming pool, ample in size and finished and equipped according to modern standards of sanitation, permanence, and beauty, like the pool in the Men's Gymnasium, will be flanked by general locker and shower rooms and special senior showers. Matron's room, distribution room, supply room, costume storage, laundry and drying room, and hair-dressing room will all be located on the ground floor, grouped for convenience of the students.

The large lounge room on the second floor, 33 by 47 feet, will be finished with walnut wainscoting seven feet high, and provided with a massive fire place. The smaller lounge on the third floor, 17 by 28 feet, also has a fireplace.

Ready by fall of 1926

The aesthetic dancing room, provided with modern equipment including large mirrors, has a good stage, sky lights, and other approved features for this type of work. The room will be useful for many types of exhibitions and for plays, lectures and similar gatherings.

The building will be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1926, and will be a great asset in the education of women at the College.

Anthony Gives Rare Curios to Museum

E. P. Anthony of Albany, Oregon, has placed his rare collection of guns, weapons, and other curios in the museum of the College. This display, gathered from all parts of the earth, represents the life work of Mr. Anthony, who values it at $5,000. For educational purposes it supplements the Hill, Wiggins and Boord specimens presented to the College last year.

ALUMNI OFFICE MOVES TO SHARE QUARTERS WITH UNION MANAGER

New headquarters for the Alumni Association were arranged during the summer. The alumni secretary now welcomes alumni visitors in room 112 Commerce Hall, the room where the commerce library and reading room were located. The old quarters, room 105 Commerce, proved to be too small for Association work.

More than that, the Association has company. The Memorial Union manager and his work are in the same room—room 112 Commerce Hall. And a full-time secretary has been added to the office personnel, giving half-time to the Association and half time to the Union.

Files of the Association and the Union have been correlated as nearly as is possible, to eliminate duplication of work and expense. The pledges and funds of the Union, however, are cared for at the College Business Office where vaults are available.

Fifth Change for Association

Moving this year marks the fifth change of offices for the Association. When a full-time alumni secretary was selected in the summer of 1921, the alumni office was opened on the second floor of Shepard Hall. That fall the overflow of girls from the dormitories was so great that Shepard Hall was requisitioned for temporary rooms and the alumni office was moved to 205 Library.

The catalog department called for its room, however, in the summer of 1922 and the Association moved to 108 Commerce. There it stayed until the spring of 1924 when it exchanged office rooms with the Associated Students, moving to 105 Commerce, a smaller but more quiet room.

And now comes the move to the present location. It is hoped that it will be the last until the Association occupies its own specially designed quarters in the Memorial Union.

TUNE IN ON YOUR ALMA MATER BY GETTING KFDJ ON THE AIR

How would you like to have a message from your very best friend every week? You'd like it? Well, —

Every Monday night at 8:45 o'clock, beginning October 5, the Alumni Association will be "on the air" for about 15 or 30 minutes over radio KFDJ. Station KFDJ is the new 500 watt broadcasting set of the College.

Snappy Programs for Beavers

Tune in and learn the latest news from the campus or a few alumni personals, including a news item about a classmate, perhaps; listen to the latest athletic dope or a speech by the coach himself; hear a musical number by the Glee Club, Madrigal, Military Band or College Orchestra; find that you are able to help in locating the whereabouts of several alumni listed among the "unknown;" get an inspiration from the activities of some O. A. C. Club; or enjoy a little dancing to the music of one of the student orchestras.

Some evenings the program will be longer than others, but always a session of snappy entertainment, planned especially for alumni, may be heard each Monday night at 8:45 o'clock. Perhaps once a month a program of an hour or two will be arranged. Later issues of The Alumnus will carry further information.

Get the Monday night habit!

REGISTRATION PROSPECTS POINT TO 3600 ENROLLMENT FOR YEAR

Prospects indicate a large attendance for the opening of freshman week, Monday, September 21. Already about 1400 new students have had their credentials accepted while 125 persons have been refused admittance because their credentials were deficient in some respect. The new student enrollment indicates a total enrollment for the year of some 3800. Credentials are still arriving in every mail. The total last year was 3371 regular students.

Many of the applicants refused admission are high school graduates who plan to take the entrance examinations on September 24 in order to remove their deficiencies and gain admission.

Freshman Week Begins September 21

Preliminary registration for new students will begin the afternoon of the 21st with a freshman convocation scheduled for the evening. English classificatory examinations will be held on the forenoon of the next day.

The regular freshman week program beginning the afternoon of the 22nd will continue through to the afternoon of the 24th. Lectures on "How to Study," "Budgeting of Time, Energy, Strength, and Money," "College Community Relations," "Comparative Values," "Place of Activities in the College Curriculum," and "College Regulations" are among the principal guiding talks to be given the new students by faculty leaders.

Faculty Members Supervise Groups

Entering students will be divided into groups and placed under the supervision of a faculty person to acquaint them with the campus during the week.

On September 25, new students will complete their registration and arrange their schedules. The following day old students will register and regular classes will begin on Monday, September 28.

Cadets Make Clean Sweep at Camp

Thirty-six cadets of the reserve officers training corps at Camp Lewis, Washington, received commissions as reserve officers in the U. S. Army at the close of the summer encampment.

The "doughboy of the west," rifle trophy for the best shooting by a college team, was presented to the infantry unit of O. A. C. The intercollegiate rifle cup was won by seven high men of O. A. C.—E. A. Keeney, S. Waddell, J. L. Heilig, M. D. Newman, W. A. Stearns, G. L. Barry, and D. D. McFarland. Keeney was given the first prize for high rifle score.

Dobell of Business Office Dies

C. A. Dobell, for 14 years a resident of Corvallis and during recent years auditor of the College business office, died in June at his home in Corvallis. The direct cause of his death was heart failure, the culmination of many years of suffering. He leaves a widow; Lila Dobell Adams, '12; Wilna Dobell, '24; Bernal Dobell, a junior in commerce, and another daughter and son.

SUMMER SESSION ENROLLMENT AND OFFERINGS ARE EXCELLENT

The Summer Session of this year was quite the most successful yet held at O. A. C. Enrollment exceeded that of last year by considerably over 200 regular summer session students; enrollment in the auxiliary sections such as the Boys and Girls Clubs, the swimming classes, etc., was equally an improvement over former years, and the atmosphere of the school, due chiefly to the presence on the campus of many former O. A. C. students, was much more like that of a regular session than in the past. Dean Smith, Director of the School, believes that the summer session has now established itself on a basis that insures its future as a representative service of the College to its constituency.

Hedger, Wilson and Rockne Attract

Among the outstanding features of the school this year were the special courses in Home Economics and in Vocational Education, together with the coaching school of Knute Rockne, famous mentor of the Notre Dame elevens that have won such consistent recognition in recent years; the classes in the direction of girls' activities in high schools, taught by Mrs. Ella E. Wilson, dean of girls in the Franklin high school of Portland; and the classes continued this year by Dr. Hedger in child care.

Coach Rockne had a class of over 100 men in his coaching tactics, and his work was so constructively helpful that he was re-engaged for next summer to continue the coaching school. In personality and driving power Rockne exerted a dynamic influence, not only upon the men in his classes but upon all men in the community that came in contact with him.

Members of class studying work for advisers or deans of high school girls. Twenty-five women, representing eight different states, attended.

Mrs. Wilson's class in supervision of girls enrolled nearly 100 women, and elicited the most earnest approval of educators as a pioneering task of great significance to our high schools.

Tuttle Wins Praise

Professor H. S. Tuttle of Pacific University conducted courses in moral instruction in the public schools that excited much enthusiasm. Dr. Tuttle won the Collier prize this summer for the best essay on moral training in the schools.

Excursions to the ocean and to Mary's Peak, a picnic at the Country Club, and other activities, including concerts, receptions, and weekly dances, added to the cheerfulness of the session, while the annual banquet was an additional attraction.

Program is Varied

Following are some of the special features in the way of dramatic entertainments, lectures, and addresses presented by people of national distinction:

Miss Ellen Van Volkenburg, dramatic reader; Dr. Burton Warren Evermann, director of the museum, California Academy of Science, lecture; Dr. Walter A. Brown, director of child health demonstrations for Oregon, lecture; Dr. William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, lecture; Governor Walter M. Pierce, lecture; Hon. J. A. Churchill, Superintendent of Public Instruction, lecture; Dr. David Snedden, Columbia University, lectures; Dr. Boss Finney, assistant professor of educational psychology, Univer-

Scribe to Become Theta Sigma Phi

"With the distinction of having its petition accepted on the 'high seas,' the newest chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, Alpha Eta, was authorized June 26," reads The Matrix, official publication of Theta Sigma Phi, for women in journalism. "The girls of this chapter are students of the Oregon State Agricultural College where a substantial and steadily growing Department of Journalism is located. * * * The Scribe at Oregon State Agricultural College has been in existence long enough to do constructive work in journalism as a group and to have individual alumnae now successful journalists."

Georgia Jacobs and Ruth LeVan were delegates from Scribe who attended open sessions of the national convention of Theta Sigma Phi held in Seattle in June. They were aboard a yacht when the business session was held in which their petition was accepted. Installation will take place early this fall.

New Home for Sig Eps

The new home of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity on North 26th street is receiving the finishing touches and will be ready for occupancy at the opening of school. It is of red brick, Colonial architecture, and one of the most spacious and attractive fraternity homes at O. A. C.

STATE DRUGGISTS CREATE FUND TO HELP PHARMACY STUDENTS

Formation of a $100,000 student loan fund was started by the Oregon State Pharmaceutical Association at its meeting last July. Of this sum, $6,500 was subscribed on the spot. This fund, so far as is known, according to the Pacific Drug Review, is the only one of its kind created by a state association in the entire country.

John F. Allen, 95, Corvallis druggist, headed the project, first talking it over in a small group of alumni and later presenting the plan on the convention floor. These alumni felt that something should be done by the association to show its appreciation for the new building.

"Mr. Allen and his friends had a dream," says the Pacific Drug Review. "They wanted to do something big—something out of the ordinary—something unselfish that would live on and on, and be always a monument to the Oregon association.

"Voicing these sentiments in an inspirational talk before the convention, Mr. Allen started something that was not stopped until practically every man in the room had pledged himself to a program which will create a student loan fund for worthy young druggists and will enable dozens—perhaps hundreds—of young men who are unable to finance themselves through college to attend the school of pharmacy. Oregon requires a college education for registration as a pharmacist. The Oregon State Pharmaceutical Association was responsible for that requirement. It now removes the last objection to the prerequisite by the creation of this fund, because through it poor young men will be enabled to get their college education the same as those of ample pecuniary means.

Allen Pledges $1000

"A total of $6,500 was subscribed in less than a half hour. Subscriptions came so fast that the secretary had difficulty in recording them. The climax came when John F. Allen arose after every one else had subscribed, and in a short talk from the depths of his heart increased his subscription from $100 to $1000 in honor of his brother, A. W. Allen, who had served the association for 33 years as secretary and had just been elected president."

It is the plan that the 1,000 druggists in the state contribute $100 each to the fund over a period of 10 years.

Since the meeting the fund has been incorporated as the O. S. P. A. Educational Fund and a Board of Trustees elected to administer it. The Board consists of S. A. Matthieu of Portland, president; J. F. Allen, '95, Corvallis, treasurer; Dean A. Zieffe, secretary; F. S. Ward of Portland; and A. W. Allen of Portland.

"THE OLD GRAD COMES BACK" IN THE MOVIES ON THE CAMPUS

The new film in two reels of 1000 feet each, "The Old Grad Comes Back," prepared under the direction of the College Editor, has been shown to delighted spectators in Corvallis, Klamath Falls, and Medford and is being scheduled, through the local O. A. C. Clubs, and the Greater O. A. C. Committees, at several other cities.

At Corvallis the first showings at the Whiteside provoked a world of interest since many faculty people as well as alumni and students appeared in the picture. The general verdict pronounced the film the best thing yet turned out by O. A. C.

Alumni Groups Pleased with Film

At Klamath Falls, Lynn P. Sabin, '20, in cooperation with a committee of graduates arranged with Mr. Harry Poole, manager of the Pine Tree theater, for a special O. A. C. night the week-end of September 12, and got a fine response from O. A. C. people throughout the city and surrounding country.

At Medford, through the initiative of Leland A. Mentzer, '19, President of the O. A. C. Club, who presented the matter to Mr. George A. Hunt, manager of the "Craterian," Medford's leading theater, the film was shown on Monday, September 19, Mr. Hunt inviting the entire O. A. C. Club as his guests.

The film is available to any O. A. C. Club or group of O. A. C. people, and can be shown, as a special feature, between the main attractions at any first-class moving picture theater, by consulting the manager two or three weeks in advance. Since the film is a first-class piece of work, in the news and spectacle class, there is real advantage to the theater in presenting it, as well as benefit to O. A. C. spirit in the community.

Costs Nothing—Only Ask for it

The film costs you nothing. Write to the Alumni Secretary at once, and get on the schedule.

O. A. C. MEN ARE PROMINENT IN HORTICULTURAL CONVENTION

Horticulturists, entomologists and plant pathologists from many districts of the United States and Canada, held their eighth annual meeting at O. A. C. last summer. Some 130 delegates were in attendance and the first general session was presided over by Charles L. Robinson, '14, of the state department of agriculture at Olympia, Washington.

"The last 50 years has seen more progress in the control of insects and plant disease pests than the whole history prior to the beginning of that period," said A. B. Cordley, O. A. C. dean of agriculture, in welcoming the scientists to the College. "The big advancement from slapping potato beetles off the vines with paddles as I myself have assisted in doing, to dusting the entire field in a few minutes from an airplane, was brought about chiefly by the investigations and reports of scientists."

Gordon G. Brown, '12, of the Hood River branch experiment station, and Carl E. Schuster, '14, of the College horticultural department, were speakers on the convention program.

H. P. Barss, professor of botany and plant pathology at O. A. C., was elected president of the association for next year; Frank M. Harrington, '13, of Montana State College, was made vice president; and Harry D. Locklin of Puyallup, Washington, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Among O. A. C. alumni attending the meeting were Donald Middlekauff, '16, of Yakima, Washington, and Robert F. Wilber, '23, of Milton, Oregon.

J. C. Lewis of College Farm Passes On

John C. Lewis, connected with the College farm for the past eight years, died of heart trouble on July 17, at the home of his son, John M. Lewis, '18, in Corvallis. Mrs. Jack M. Eakins, '21, of Chula Vista, California, is one of his eight children. One son, E. C. Lewis, is a student at the College. Vincent Chappell of the O. A. C. dairy department is a son-in-law.

House Has New Baby and New Supervisor

The Home Management House has a new captain. Harry McCoy, Jr., about one year old, has been elected to the position, succeeding "Bob" Whealdon who was the sixth baby to live at the Home Management House.

Harry's father, Harrison McCoy, ex-'25, F, died as the result of injuries received in the World War and his mother, a graduate of Reed College, will teach in the Corvallis schools.

Ruby Beers, '18, will supervise the Home Management House in the absence of Miss Johnson who goes to Columbia for advanced study. Miss Johnson plans to use as a basis for her master's degree, material compiled from expenditures of more than a half million dollars made by the 16 sorority houses over which she has had supervision during the past year.

Edna Groves on Campus for Conference

Edna Groves, '93, supervisor of home economics in the United States Indian Service, Department of the Interior, was a Corvallis visitor during the summer. She was on the O. A. C. Campus for health education conferences with teachers in the Indian communities. O. A. C. is one of six schools of the country giving summer work in health education, the federal government having established this work that the teachers may better get together in a health program.

WORK OF COLLEGE IS SUSTAINED BY BOARD OF HIGHER CURRICULA

Alumni anxious to learn the outcome of the attack on the College launched last spring by the University, will be interested in the following remarks excerpted from a letter sent out to all last year's students by W. A. Jensen, executive secretary of the College.

Executive Office Reports Decision

"In deciding the issues brought before it by the University of Oregon, which complained that the College was fast becoming 'a second state university in Oregon,' and petitioned to have much of its work eliminated and several of its schools discontinued or reorganized, the Board of Higher Curricula, after several careful hearings and very deliberate and searching study of the problems involved, sustained the work of the College. The Board granted all the new courses requested at the regular April session many of which the University objected to, endorsed the School of Commerce and the department of Industrial Journalism, both of which were attacked, and made certain rulings defining the limitations of the School of Music, and the department of Physical Education. No work was taken away from the College in any of these fields. The following new courses were approved for the School of Commerce: social psychology, social progress, domestic and foreign exchange, history of economic thought, concentration and monopoly in business, analysis of financial statements, accounting control.

Now Have Conservatory of Music

"The School of Music was directed to change its name, but authorized to continue, as in the past, to give its courses as supplementary to the degree curricula regularly established at the College, continuing also the practice of not granting a baccalaureate degree in music. Its courses, as offered in the 1925-26 Catalogue, are not disturbed and complete credit is given by certificate for all studies successfully pursued in the department, including certificate of graduation for the four-year courses. The name of the school has been changed by the Board of Regents to Conservatory of Music, and Director Petri and his staff of competent assistants, who so ably and happily carried on the work during the past year, will be back at their posts at the opening of College in September.

"The department of Physical Education at the College continues its work as in the past, offering all the courses presented in the 1925-26 Catalogue, but not giving a special degree in physical education. It has not given such a degree in the past. Its work, however, as you well know, is of superior character.

Pre-engineering Out at University

"The pre-engineering curriculum at the University was eliminated, as was also the pre-medical curriculum at the College. No individual courses in our School of Pharmacy were eliminated. The curriculum in Household Arts at the University was limited to a total of 15 courses with an aggregate of 36 credits."

Annual Inspection Made by Regents

Annual inspection of the branch experiment stations of the College was made during August by the regents under the guidance of Director James T. Jardine. Stations at Astoria, Hermiston, Union, Burns, and Talent were visited and the regents reported themselves well pleased with the help given the farmers of the state through the various stations. Crop and business conditions throughout the eastern and southern parts of the state were said to be unusually promising.

ARTHUR PALMER TIFFT MEMORIAL INCREASES STUDENT LOAN FUND

A bequest of $23,000 was left to O. A. C. during the summer to form the Arthur Palmer Tift memorial fund for the aid of deserving students. This sum will swell the student loan fund to more than $50,000.

The student loan fund, started in 1911, with a small irreducible fund, has been used and reused until, at the opening of college last year, it had accommodated 2262 students in amounts averaging less than $100 each. Of this number 410 persons were borrowers last year.

Dedication Ceremony is Impressive

Dedication of the new building of the School of Pharmacy on July 8 was one of the noteworthy features of the Oregon State Pharmaceutical Association which held its annual convention in Corvallis.

Left to right—Dr. E. L. Newcomb of the University of Minnesota; F. R. Peterson of Portland, president of the national Association of Retail Druggists; Frank S. Ward, '01, secretary of the Oregon State Pharmaceutical Association; Wm. F. Woodward of Portland; Dean Adolph Zieffe of O. A. C.; A. E. Crosby of The Dalles, retiring president of the state Association; H. S. Noel, representative of the Eli Lilly company of Indianapolis; J. K. Weatherford, '72, president of the O. A. C. Board of Regents.

The dedicatory exercises were profoundly impressive, reflecting the gratitude of the participants for the recognition of the profession implied by the building of a separate home for pharmacy.

Frank S. Ward, '01, secretary of the O. S. P. A. and the oldest alumnus of the school in attendance, was in charge of the program. Dean A. Zieffe outlined briefly some of the struggles through many years to obtain the new building, and the aims and ambitions which he and the school authorities have for the new pharmacy building.

J. K. Weatherford, president of the Board of Regents, in an informal address in which he covered the history of the college from its foundation, presented the building to the druggists of Oregon. William F. Woodward accepted the building in their behalf, and A. E. Crosby, president of the state association, accepted in behalf of the Oregon association.

Later, during the convention, the ladies' auxiliary voted to furnish a girls' rest room in the building.

ATHLETIC FUND AGAIN ACTIVE UNDER NEW CENTRAL COMMITTEE

United support of the O. A. C. Athletic Fund was voiced at the annual meeting of the Association last June and it is expected that the 1925-26 pledge of $5000 will be raised before the close of the coming football season. Members of the Association who, before the June meeting, were indifferent or opposed to the Fund openly expressed the belief that the Association was in honor bound to carry out its pledge to the Board of Control, and that they could be counted on to contribute. A general feeling of regret was apparent when it became known that there had been no activity on the matter since the resignation of the chairman of the fund in June, 1924. The Association moved again to support the project and again urged the Board of Directors to make any necessary plans to prosecute the work.

Price Heads Central Committee

The Board of Directors in later session formally requested Earl Price to assume the direction of the work which Jack Grafton, chairman, had been compelled to relinquish because of severing connections with the cooperative managers' association and being much out of town and the state.

Mr. Price agreed to work only with the understanding that a central committee be formed and that the members of this committee be jointly responsible with him for the development and prosecution of the work. Consequently, a working committee of four was named. It consists of Earl Price; Claude Buchanan, president of the Association; Zelta Feike Rodenwold, general secretary of the association; and Wallace Kadderly, member of the Board of Control. Since Mr. Buchanan lives in Corvallis, it is possible for this committee to be a real working central committee. Already it has met and laid plans.

Past History Reviewed

For those unfamiliar with the past history of this project, it is pointed out that in January, 1924, a group of alumni were called in to the college by the Alumni Board to confer about the athletic situation. Some 50 representative alumni came, met with the Board of Control and the President of the College, and viewed the situation inside and out, frontwards and backwards and sidewise.

The alumni recommended the employment of a man whose entire time should be devoted to football coaching. Also, that he be given the necessary assistants for both the Varsity and the development of the freshman material. To aid in meeting the increased cost necessary for such a program, the alumni assembled promised the Board of Control to raise $5000 a year for three years and pledged their communities to contribute certain sums to such a fund. This money to be turned to the Board of Control and expended only for coaching salaries. There followed the official appointment of a committee—Jack Grafton, Earl Riley, and Fred Walters. About $600 has been raised from that time to July of this year. The Administration and Board of Control accepted and carried out the recommendations of the alumni but the alumni have not fulfilled their pledge.

Portland Club Raises Quota

The Portland O. A. C. Club is about the only group which has consistently continued with raising its quota for the cause. Already it has turned in $600 which is in addition to the amount mentioned above on its promised $1000 a year for three years. Furthermore, it assures the committee that its word is good on the proposition.

ATTACK ON COLLEGE STANDARDS REFUTED BY REGISTRAR LEMON

Statements made in other states, notably California, that entrance requirements here are low have been called to the attention of college authorities by alumni. Today these were answered vigorously by E. B. Lemon, registrar, who declared that "any statement to the effect that entrance requirements at the state college or the character of work maintained here are in any way below standard is not only false and misleading but can not be substantiated by facts."

"Admission to both the state college and the state university in Oregon is contingent upon presentation of 15 units of high school work, 10 of which are in basic subjects," explained Mr. Lemon. "The University of California also demands 15 units for admission but does not specify how these units must be distributed as to subject matter. They do, however, require a principal's recommendation based on grades earned."

"We have refused admission to students from California this year because of lack of units in basic subjects who would be eligible at their own university. We have also admitted some students who are ineligible there because of grade requirement."

"This college proceeds on the theory that a student who has been graduated from a standard high school with the necessary credits properly distributed is entitled to college opportunities. In California a student denied admission because of grade requirement may enter a junior college and if his work there is up to a certain standard he is admitted to the university with advanced standing. Here we have no such conditional admission but if a high standard of work is not maintained after entrance the student is quickly eliminated."

"A student eligible for admission to O. A. C. would qualify for admission to such institutions as Iowa State College and the University of Illinois."

Dean Jameson is Recognized

Dr. Kate W. Jameson, O. A. C., dean of women, has been chosen by the Women's Foundation for Health to take charge of collecting Oregon votes for the award of the Agamede medal. This medal is to be presented to "that woman citizen of the American republic who is adjudged to have performed during the past year the most distinguished service in advancing the health and happiness of American women generally." A committee of nationally known men and women make the selection.

Gertrude Nolan is Made State Director

Gertrude Nolan, '11, was named as one of the several directors of the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women during the state convention held in Salem last June.

Plan is Outlined

The new central committee of four has redistricted the state and revised quotas. As rapidly as possible it is getting local representatives appointed for collecting in each district.

The original suggestion of at least $10 a person will be kept and probably most contributions will be made on that basis. But contributions in any amount will be appreciated. It is the hope of the committee to have the entire 1925-26 pledge raised before the end of the 1925 football season.

Two of the latest sketches for the O. A. C. Memorial Union building submitted by Lee Thomas, architect. The Board of Governors of the Memorial Union and the architect are making a careful and detailed study of plans and elevations in order that the building may be one worthy of standing as a memorial to those who paid "the supreme sacrifice" that others might continue to live in peace and happiness. Members of the O. A. C. Family—numbering 4088 to date—have made financial sacrifice toward this memorial. Have you made yours?

*O valiant Hearts, who to your glory came Through dust of conflict and through battle-flame,
Tranquil you lie, your knightly virtue proved,
Your memory hallowed in the Land you loved.*

*Proudly you gathered, rank on rank to war,
As who had heard God's message from afar;
All you had hoped for, all you had, you gave
To save mankind—yourselves you scorned to save.*

—“THE SUPREME SACRIFICE.”

Facts About the Faculty

Foremost among faculty changes for 1925-26 is the coming of Florence M. Errant of Chicago to be the new head of the department of physical education for women, succeeding Edna A. Cocks who will teach in the Los Angeles city schools this winter. Miss Errant has had hospital training, teaching and executive experience, and advanced study in her chosen profession. Another change in the department of physical education for women is the departure of Lois Rankin to study at Columbia University. Natalie Reichart, ex-'21, has been added to the staff. Miss Reichart has studied at Columbia and taught at Washington State College.

Another change affecting a large number of persons was brought about by the leave of absence granted to Sibylla Hadwen, director of dormitories and head of institutional management. Miss Hadwen, after 13 years of service at the institution, is to spend the coming year in study or in the commercial field. She is to be succeeded by A. Margaret Bowers of the University of Indiana. Miss Bowers has her Ph.B. from Chicago University and has taught nutrition at the University of Ohio. Other changes in the department of institutional management are the coming of Fern Gleisner of the University of Washington and Elsie Troeger of the University of Chicago to fill the vacancies left by the resignations of Miss H. Vasanoja, who is to have charge of the Reed College dormitories in Portland, and Mrs. Elizabeth Flora.

Two other leaves of absence were granted, one to Professor A. Grace Johnson, head of the department of household administration, and one to L. E. Brigham, assistant professor in hydraulic engineering. Miss Johnson has taught at O. A. C. for the past 10 years. She goes to do graduate work at Columbia University this year. Emma Weld who has been on leave for the past year studying in Columbia, returns to the campus as acting head of household administration while Ruby Beers, '18, will have charge of the home management house. Mr. Brigham is superintending the construction of the new Women's Gymnasium for Mr. N. L. Traver.

Willette Moore, '16, who received her master's degree at Iowa State College last spring is to teach household science in Bernice Wait's place. Miss Wait goes to study in Illinois.

Mary Van Kirk of the household arts department is wintering in Florida. Her place is to be filled by Alma Fritchhoff who used to be at O. A. C. but comes directly from a teaching position in the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Wayne R. Hunt takes Dr. H. S. Irvine's place in the Health Service as assistant physician.

Edith C. Kuney is the new assistant professor in modern languages taking the vacancy left by Minnie J. Wangen.

Professor D. C. Livingston of the School of Mines spent the summer in geological research in eastern Oregon.

Mabel Maginnis of the secretarial training department spent the summer studying at Boston University.

Helen Fulton, ex-'20, who received her doctor's degree from the University of Wisconsin last June, has been appointed instructor in chemistry. C. H. Johnson of Cornell University, Clarence Lachele, and C. S. Pease of Ohio State University have also been added to the chemistry staff. They take the places of Walter Scott, associate professor, H. P. Howells, Louise K. Collins, and J. S. Blair. Mr. Blair goes to teach at Stanford University.

The personnel of the department of English has undergone a big change. F. H. Butt of the University of Washington, G. G. Coope of the University of California, Lawrence Babb of the University of Missouri, F. L. Fenton of Stanford University, D. W. Honeywell of the University of California, Earl H. McEuen of Harvard University, and W. A. Wattles of the University of Kansas, have been added to the English staff. They take the places left vacant by the departure of H. H. Tucker, who is doing advanced work at the University of California, J. Coleman Scott who is teaching at Riverside, California, F. Dean Moore who expected to study music in Portland but because of poor eyesight was compelled to stay at home (Creswell) this year, L. B. Baldwin who is in Corvallis, P. D. Carleton who married and for his honeymoon went to Norway where he is studying on a scholarship, and E. T. Arneson who is in California.

G. S. Van Fleet of Montana State College has been added to the mathematics department and Margery Lautermische of the University of Tennessee has been made technician in the entomology department. W. T. Johnson was appointed instructor in veterinary science.

G. I. Butterbaugh of the University of Washington is assistant professor in finance and administration taking the place of C. F. Lay who has been made head of the accounting department in the University of Texas.

Dr. I. R. Jones of the University of Minnesota is assistant professor of dairy husbandry, taking the place of Roy C. Jones who is operating his own farm near Corvallis.

Edwin Meyer of Stout Institute succeeds G. H. Hill in the industrial arts department.

Dean Ava B. Milam spent the summer months in study and research at the University of Chicago.

Victor P. Morris, instructor in economics, was married in June to Miss Grace Parker at Monmouth.

Dean G. A. Covell attended a special conference of officials of the Western Electric company and the American Telephone and Telegraph company, held in Chicago the latter part of June. Fifteen graduates of O. A. C. are being taken into the employ of the Western Electric company and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company this year.

Dr. U. G. Dubach, dean of Men, was leader of the friendship tour of the Orient made by Pacific coast student council of the Y. M. C. A. during the summer. Accompanying him were Waldo "Pete" Stoddard, '25, ex-president of the student body, and Maurice Newland, editor of the Daily Barometer for the coming year.

Alumni Entertain Regents at Beach

The outstanding social event of early July at Cannon Beach was a banquet sponsored by alumni for the board of regents of the College. In the regent group were Judge J. K. Weatherford, '72; E. E. Wilson, '89; G. A. Palmiter; E. B. Aldrich, '00; Mrs. W. S. Kinney; and James T. Jardine, director of the Oregon experiment station.

The regents and Director Jardine were on a tour of inspection of the John Jacob Astor experiment station, an annual event, and the banquet was given at Hotel Ecola, Cannon Beach, July 2. Following the dinner the party of 30 merrymakers gathered on the beach around bonfires and passed an informal hour recalling college history.

Boise Beavers Plan for Game

Alumni activities over in Idaho are getting up steam, too, it seems. A visit from Ross Cady, ex-'09, of Boise, Idaho, during the summer assured the General Secretary that a permanent organization was to be effected in Boise this fall. Later word from him brings the information that all O. A. C. supporters at the O. A. C.-U. of I. game in Boise on November 21 will be properly entertained. The Owyhee Hotel has been designated as official headquarters for the Beavers at that time.

C. animal husbandry department; John E. Smith, '02, president of the Ames Club; Mrs. O. H. Elmer; Merrill R. Good, '23; Dr. M. L. Boozer, formerly pastor of the Corvallis Presbyterian Church; Mrs. B. B. Fulton.

Portland Office Proving Effective

As The Alumnus goes to press, the Portland Club is making large preparations for entertaining the new entering students who will come to O. A. C. from Portland. This affair has become an annual activity and includes dancing with other special features.

The entertainment this year is planned for the Elk's Temple on September 15.

The Portland O. A. C. Office in 611 Oregon building is functioning more and more effectively in the lives of the Portland Beavers. Alumni and students are making more and more use of these headquarters. There they meet friends, learn the latest at the College and exchange news notes on old classmates and friends. They have learned to head up all their activities there where there is a permanent secretary to help carry on.

ALUMNAE STAGE GET TOGETHER DURING NATIONAL CONVENTION

The O. A. C. banquet at the American Home Economics association convention in San Francisco was one of the most successful events of the entire meeting, according to the report of Mrs. J. S. Wieman (formerly Alice Feike, '22), who attended the convention as president of the Oregon Home Economics Association. It was so interesting that a general session of the convention following the dinner hour was almost forgotten.

Martha E. Davis, '21, now with Scripps's Metabolic Clinic at LaJolla, California, had charge of the preparations for the affair, and although Agnes Redmond, '18, could not be present because of her own business, she attended to the table decorations. They consisted of a huge spray of French marigolds and silver candlesticks with orange shades.

Eager to Learn of College

Most of the time was spent in reminiscing—no real set program was in order. Those who had been on the campus recently were kept busy answering questions from all sides.

A. Grace Johnson gave a very vivid description of the "O. A. C. of Today and Tomorrow." Alice Feike Wieman was asked to tell something of "What the Alumnae can do for their Alma Mater," and to answer questions on organization of O. A. C. Clubs.

It was truly a jollification not to be forgotten.

Many in Attendance

Those in attendance were: Martha E. Davis, '21; Scripps Metabolic Clinic, LaJolla, California; Clara Miller, senior, Corvallis; Mrs. J. S. Wieman, '22, Portland; Jeannette Cramer, '22, Portland; Mrs. Helen Immel Stebbins, '23, 2645 Benvenue, Berkeley; Helen B. Anderson, '15, Methodist Hospital, 2826 South Hope street, Los Angeles; Margaret C. Morehouse, '13, Corvallis; Julia M. ### Monthly Picnics Sponsored in Salem

The Salem O. A. C. Club elected officers for 1925-26 at a meeting held at the country home, "The Purple Iris," of Mrs. Lester Pearmine, nee Nell Sykes, '12, last June.

Vivian Marsters, '23, was elected president of the organization, succeeding Mrs. Mark McCallister (formerly Ada Finley, '03). Claude Bailey was chosen vice president, Mrs. Richard D. Slater, nee Bernice Bright, '23, was selected for secretary, Lloyd Gregg, '22, was made treasurer, and David Wright, '08, elected sergeant at arms.

The "Ole Swimmin' Hole" marked the place of the next meeting of the Club. This picnic was held during July under the supervision of Mrs. Faye Road-ruck Wright and Ada Finley McCallister. A cafeteria supper was served after an evening of swimming. The Salem Club has a large membership and the monthly picnics are sponsored by the organization during each summer season.

DO YOU remember entering college as a rook?

Perhaps father came with you, to get you registered, pay your fees, and see you safely settled in a suitable boarding place. Or perhaps Jack, a junior from your town, much trusted by the family, took you under his proprietary wing. In either case, you were glad to have him along. For the campus, however attractive, looked large and strange at that first visit, and the buildings almost forbidding in their massive grandeur. As you walked up between the trees to old Administration, you looked curiously at the groups of students gathered here and there,—along the walk, on the circular steps, and in the corridors of the building—and marvelled at the informality and uproarious good fellowship of the old-timers, greeting one another with outbursts of delight; at the contrast between the happy unrestrained manners of these upper class men and women; and the shy, awkward, and self-conscious reticence of the newcomers, edging their way up, one by one, to the metal cage where the Registrar received them; at the warmth of the hand clasp between a big fair-haired football player and a dear old dean with a great shock of curly gray hair, and deep set honest eyes, twinkling with merriment as he cried, "Well, Christie, are we going to put the jinks to rout this year?"

Do you remember the search you made for a room, quite different from your colleague, or the freshman girls, who marched right up to "dear old Waldo," as if to the family mansion. But for you there was no college dormitory, Cauthorn, as well as Waldo, having been lately turned over to the girls. So following your registration you were directed to the Christian Association building. On your way, at father's suggestion, you visited the Library, where he particularly admired the scientific section, and the collection of essays, but noted with regret the absence of Todd's Student's Manual,—which he subsequently sent you to make up for the deficiency. Then across to Shepard Hall, where the "Y" Secretaries were assisted by a group of last year's graduates, one of whom, winner of the Waldo prize and member of the Forum, volunteered to help you. With the vivacity and tender solicitude of a young mother tucking her two-year old to bed, she explained the long list of boarding places, from which she recommended a selection that looked most promising. Did high scholarship and gayety and kindness ever associate themselves so vividly in your mind before? Not till you met this Waldo prize winner and learned about lodgings from her.

And then your journey of inspection to this and that place, past fraternity houses, sorority houses, beautiful churches, quiet old residences, brisk new bungalows, until at last you found the right place, board and room under the same roof—an advantage especially in cold and rainy weather, as father observed—and none too soon, for the last train back home was due presently and father must be getting the paper out next day.

Supper over and you in your room, unpacking, the day's pictures reel across your mind—the parting from the home folks, a bit tearful through the smiles; the new scenes of the college town and college campus; the brisk life, the dapper and dashing young men; the vivacious and condescending young belles; and then the scene changes—a familiar porch at twilight, the old group coming and going, with glad halos and cheery voices; the pensive chirp of crickets coming in from the garden; the uneasy lilt of blackbirds in the pines; and later, as you lounge before the open fire, the warmth of mother's palms about your forehead, and her soft "Good night, son," as she goes up stairs to bed. Oh Boy, will the new friends ever be the same?

1925 ALUMNI DIRECTORY COMING AS NOVEMBER ISSUE OF ALUMNUS

Announcement has been sent out by the Alumni Secretary within the last six weeks of the proposed 1925 Alumni Directory. This announcement went to all persons whose names were in the "known" files of the Association.

Master files in alumni headquarters are now being given a last checking and very shortly material will go to the printer. According to present plans, the Directory will be off the press in November and mailed as the November issue of The Alumnus.

To Contain 9000 Names

The 1925 Directory will contain about 9000 names and the contents will be arranged in three sections. There will be an alphabetical list of all persons who have attended the "College on the Hill" and whose addresses are known in alumni headquarters. There will be a geographical arrangement of these names by towns and states and foreign countries. The third section will list all graduates by classes—an innovation in the O. A. C. Directory which has been requested by a number of alumni.

The proposed directory will make a book (6x9) of about 200 pages, whereas the last publication of the kind, issued in 1922, was a book (4x7½) of 136 pages, containing about 3500 names, graduates only. The large increase noted in the number of names is due to the fact that special effort has been made to locate former students of the College who are not graduates. About 4000 of them have been located. Besides that, some 1500 men and women have received degrees. Should any reader know of a "Beaver" who has not received a communication from the alumni office within the past six weeks, he will be rendering that individual, the Association, and the College a distinct favor by sending such information to alumni headquarters immediately, thereby insuring the inclusion of his or her name in the directory.

Directory Will Fill Great Need

The alumni Board of Directors and the General Secretary of the Association believe that this 1925 Directory will prove a large binding force in alumni ranks—one which no "Beaver" should be without. For it will help the members of the great O. A. C. Family to find classmates and friends and know what they are doing. Since the directory can be sent only to those who pay their dues to the Association, alumni everywhere are urged to remit to headquarters, thus making for the most effective use of this Beaver Bond.

THE Alumnus cover design for the year 1925-26 is the work of Taylor Poore, ex-'25, who has returned to the West after a year spent in study at the Chicago Art Institute. Mr. Poore's presentation of the 1917 Class Gift at the campus entrance down by Apperson Hall has met with many expressions of appreciation already. It is hoped that it will lead many a graduate into the columns of The Alumnus during the months to come.

Alumni Urged to Make Reservations

The Manager of Student Activities, Carl Lodell, is covering the Association mailing list with a letter as The Alumnus goes to press. This letter contains the 1925 football schedule and directions for obtaining tickets to the various games on the campus, in Portland and at Eugene.

Alumni are urged to cooperate by sending in their orders early in the envelopes accompanying the letter. Such promptness will assure them the best seats and avoid the jam at the last minute.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

With a total of nine games on the schedule including six that might be termed "tough" ones Coach Schissler's youngsters are on edge to demonstrate to their followers that they are many per cent better than last year. What are the prospects? is a question on the lips of most alumni who follow the football fortunes of their alma mater. It is early in the game to make observations of any consequence and guesses are dangerous any time. Nevertheless, it is safe to predict that Beaver fans will this fall see a snappy team, a team that is worlds faster than the one with about the same men looked last year, a team that will demonstrate that it knows what blocking and interfering mean, a team that has developed some confidence in itself. Not a conference champion but a good football team that is dangerous to the best of them and with the right breaks is apt to spring some surprises.

***

"A terrible schedule" is heard quite often when football prospects are under discussion. It isn't the best in the world; not good at all from the playing standpoint. From the local spectators' angle, however, it isn't so bad. Four games at home—two of them that will have plenty of action. Gonzaga has a veteran team; one that is capable of making it interesting for anyone. Montana is much reinforced in the line this year by reason of a powerful last year's freshman team. The Grizzlies' backfield will feature Sweet, probably the fastest player in the conference; Kelly, all coast selection last fall; and Illman the giant fullback who played center on the basketball team and combines agility with his height and weight. The homecoming contest, therefore, will be a battle.

Portland fans will have an opportunity to see the Beavers in action against Whitman. O. A. C. has never lost a football game to the Missionaries but Borleske's teams always put up a battle.

Then, on November 21 eastern Oregon followers of the Orange and Black may journey to Boise over perfect highways to see Schissler's team unlimber against Idaho.

Tradition and a desire for revenge are powerful aids sometimes to the accomplishment of a desire. This year's Beavers will be spurred on by both in certain games this fall.

To begin with, O. A. C. has never won from Stanford. That is a tradition the boys want to live down. The first game between these teams was played in 1919 at Corvallis when the southerners were new to the American game. Our team, under Coach Hargiss, played rings around them, marching up and down the field almost at will until near the goal line. The final score was 14 to 6 with the red shirts on the long end by virtue of a blocked punt that was run for a touchdown and another break that gave them an easy counter. In 1921 the Beavers travelled to Palo Alto and more than gave battle. But with the score tied and only a few minutes to play Patrick, Stanford fullback, intercepted a pass and went for a touchdown. Final score, 14 to 7. Again in 1922, led by Andy Kerr, the men from the south triumphed, 6 to 0, this time at Corvallis when a fumbled punt gave them the ball deep in O. A. C. territory and they bucked it over.

If the traffic becomes much worse it will become necessary to take children out "on leash."

University of Southern California is on the list too. The fact that Howard Jones is now coach at the Los Angeles institution makes no difference to Schissler's crew. They beat us last year and made the count of football games between O. A. C. and U. S. C. two-all. Back in 1914 the Beavers under Dr. Stewart walloped the southerners 38 to 6 in a special attraction at the big stadium in Tacoma. In 1916 Stewart's team repeated, this time with a 16 to 7 victory. The next time these elevens met was in 1921 and this game resulted in a win for U. S. C.—score 7 to 0. It will be remembered that at Portland last fall Gus Henderson led his team of individual stars to a 17 to 3 win over Schissler's green youngsters. So, when our boys travel down to Los Angeles this fall it will be with blood in their eyes.

And Idaho!!! Watch out, Gem Staters! With Stivers on the starring end you made some of our players look ridiculous last fall. They haven't forgotten it. Then, too, that was the second game you ever won from us in football. Gridiron history between O. A. C. and Idaho dates from 1913. The Orange and Black was victorious that year, 3 to 0, in a muddy contest on the present lower campus. In 1914, Dr. Stewart's second year at O. A. C., his team defeated Idaho 26 to 0 at Portland; in 1915 it was 40 to 0; in 1916 the good work was helped along with a 26 to 0 count scored by Joe Pipal's team, and finally, in 1917, Pipal's boys slipped over another win, 26 to 6. The next time the teams met was in 1923 and Idaho emerged on the long end of a 7 to 0 score.

Oregon? Well, if anything was needed to insure a contest at Eugene on November 14 it was found in a recent news dispatch from the university campus that, in describing the outlook for the Webfoot season, said "Oregon will have a tough scrap at Stanford, October 31, and another real battle when Washington is met at Seattle on Thanksgiving day in Seattle. O. A. C., which plays here (Eugene) homecoming, November 14, should be easy for the veteran Webfoot eleven." We can't figure out whether this is a piece of inspired "confidence propaganda" or whether the writer is just plain ignorant. We do know that he can safely add at least one more tough game to the Oregon schedule—homecoming, November 14.

Two Wrestlers Given Honorable Mention

Word has reached this column to the effect that in the athletic history write-up printed in The Alumnus last March honorable mention was not accorded one or two deserving wrestlers. One of these is Herschel M. Cummins, better known as "Shorty" or "Professional Bone Crusher" Cummins of '18.

Cummins was on the team in the spring of '18 and elected captain for the following year, but the following year found him in the Navy. He was never defeated in this time on the team and made all northwest for good measure. All of his opponents were seasoned men and had two or more years on the wrestling teams.

Another deserving special recognition is Glen Strome, captain of the team in 1917-18, who made all northwest by defeating all opponents.

Student Publications Contracted

The O. A. C. Daily Barometer will again be printed by the Gazette-Times company while the contract for the Beaver, college annual, was awarded to Hicks-Chatten Engraving company, of Portland.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK STARTS WITH THIRTY-FIVE PROMISING ASPIRANTS

Fourteen lettermen were numbered among the 35 aspirants for the Beaver 1925 football team to whom equipment was issued on Monday, September 14, preliminary to the initial official practice called by Coach Schissler for September 15. Quinn, Bell, Gridler and Schulmerich, halfbacks; Snider, fullback; Edwards, quarterback; Balcom and Wernmark, centers; Richert, guard; Jim Dixon, Dickerson and Olmstead, tackles; and Ward and Denman, ends are the candidates who have seen previous service on the varsity. Bell, Snider, Richert and Olmstead are on the eve of their last season in college football; the other ten men have each had but one previous year of experience.

Last Year's Freshmen Out

The roll call for first practice brings out, in addition to the "vets," a sizable list of rather promising graduates from last year's yearling team that won from the University of Oregon babes and several strong substitutes from the 1924 varsity. Luby and Hamm, halfbacks; Lassiter and Ford, quarters; Robbins, Patrick, Skaggs, Carr, and Ployhart, ends; McCellan, Badley, Fiske and Marvin Dixon, guards; Avrit, fullback; and Dean, center, are this year's sophomores who will furnish competition for some of Schissler's more experienced players. Liebe and Paine, tackles from last year's varsity, are fighting for regular tackle berths. Vimont, a transfer from a middle western junior college, showed great promise in spring practice and is on deck to make permanent his claim for a regular job.

Lyman and Andre, guards; Tebb, end; Price, quarterback; Micklewaite, tackle; and Garber and McCart, halfbacks are the veterans who will be missed this year. Coach Schissler's building up policy has brought along capable successors to these graduated veterans.

Willamette Opens Season on October 3

According to the present outlook it will fall on Snider, Schulmerick or Denman to fill Fred Tebb's place as a punter. None of the three has yet developed into a dependable booter but all of them have been working for months in perfecting their technique and should develop rapidly before the Beavers meet Willamette University on Bell field on October 3 in the first game of the season. Denman made his letter at end last year but Schissler expects to use him at halfback this fall where he will have an opportunity to show to better advantage the shiftiness that characterized his playing on the championship Corvallis high school team of a few years ago.

Bell field has been resurfaced, covered with a light coating of fine sawdust, and supplied with more adequate drainage facilities. As a consequence it is in better condition right now than it ever has been.
