

GAD - FLY

Vol. I, No. 1

Monday, January 23, 1961

Dear citizens of Corvallis:

I have been a resident (which means I spend my money here) of Corvallis for several years now. I have particularly enjoyed the fact that you have seen fit to add quantities of fluoride to your city water supply. Undoubtedly this forward looking, progressive attitude has helped me to form better, harder teeth.

Wouldn't it be a shame if those fine strong teeth were scattered along one of your railroad tracks one day. Won't you please put some signals at your more dangerous crossings. Since the train doesn't discriminate between students, faculty, townspeople, and tourists it's conceivable that all might profit.
