BIG DEBATE IN GYM. AT 7:30 TONIGHT

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO VS. LOCAL ORATORS.

The first of a series of triangular debates between O. A. C., Washington State College, and the University of Idaho, will be held this evening when O. A. C. meets a team from the University of Idaho here, and one representing W. S. C. in Pullman. The subject for discussion is "Resolved, that there should be created a Federal Commission with power to regulate corporations engaged in interstate commerce, constitutionally waived."

In the College gymnasium at 7:30 p. m., Fred McCabe and H. M. Curry will uphold the negative side of the subject against the University of Idaho orators, the discussion being opened by Curry. The judges of this contest will be: Judge Chas. McNary of the Salem Supreme Court; Benjamin C. Dey of Portland; and Maurice Seitz of Portland. E. B. Lemon, O. A. C. '11, will preside and "Hiram" L. Hill, president of the local debating association will act as teller.

Previous to the debate Miss Rondeau will render a piano solo: "Scenes in Venice," by Schubert Listz; and Lawrence Skipton will be heard in a violin solo: "A Polish Dance," by Wieniawski. During the intermission between the close of the discussion and the rendering of the decision Miss Esther Smith, soprano, will favor the assembly with "The Temple Bells," a song by Woodford-Finden.

While local followers of the forensic game are listening to the arguments of McCabe and Curry, G. R. Hoerner and Emanuel Reichart will uphold the affirmative side of the same question at Pullman, against the debaters representing Washington State College. This team left yesterday morning accompanied by S. H. Peterson, coach of debate, in the capacity of both coach and manager. A glance at the tabulation given at the head of this column will reveal the fact that during the last five years in dual meets with Washington State College, O. A. C. has been victorious three times, and has tied them twice.

Before leaving yesterday morning Mr. Peterson said: "I am not going to promise victory over either W. S. C. or Idaho, but I am willing to promise that the teams representing both of these colleges will have to show a bit of class in order to get a decision over the local boys. The men have all been working hard, and will be in good shape to put up a good line of argument against their opponents when the debates come off Friday night. I certainly hope that a big crowd turns out to hear the Idaho debate, to be held in the Gymnasium, because it is a mighty hard proposition to speak to a lot of empty chairs and put any fire into your speech. Those who attend the debate will hear a well prepared and interesting argument, and will at the same time be helping O. A. C. to win."

A special invitation is extended to visitors in Corvallis in connection with Farmers' Week, to attend the debate.

PROF. LEWIS RETURNS FROM BUSINESS TRIP IN EAST.

Many Colleges Visited. Made Vice-President American Pomological Society.

Professor C. I. Lewis, who has been in the East during the past month, returned to Corvallis this week. While in the East Professor Lewis attended several National meetings, including the Experimental Station section of the American Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experimental Stations, the American Pomological Society, and the Society for Horticultural Science. At the American Pomological Society at Washington, D. C., he gave the following addresses: "Irrigation as a Factor in Fruit Production," and "The Relation of Horticultural Practice to the Horticultural Curriculum."

STOCK JUDGING TEAM SPRINGS BIG SURPRISE

TAKES SECOND PLACE IN PORTLAND CONTEST.

Peery Stars for O. A. C. Locals Handicapped by Lack of Practice Work-out.

Handicapped by lack of practice and hindered by official ultimatum, the O. A. C. stock judging team, scarcely two days in existence, descended upon the stock show in Portland, pushed W. S. C. and Utah Agricultural College off the map and missed passing the citrus to the winning Idaho team by a bare margin of 5 1/2 points.

The facts and figures of the case are as follows: Two days before the contest, O. A. C. had no stock judging team. Moreover, due to a new regulation of the show management, every person who has been on any previous team representing the college at the Portland Live Stock Show, is ineligible to serve a second time. This eliminated the men who served last year on both the first and second teams. Despite these obstacles a team consisting of W. K. Peery, I. M. C. Anderson, L. A. Olmsted, N. C. Jamison, and Geo. R. Johnson, with L. C. Gambee as alternate, was chosen from among those qualified to go, and for a portion of two days given such training as time allowed, in the judging of dairy cattle, sheep and swine, they received absolutely no instruction in judging beef cattle, for the good and sufficient reason that there were no beef animals on the college farm. Thus equipped, O. A. C. went to Portland to compete with the seasoned teams of W. S. C. and Idaho, both of which were strengthened by the experience of two previous contests this season, one at Pullman and one at Lewiston.

The outcome was a vindication of the quality of the work accomplished at O. A. C. The scoring was as follows: Idaho won with a count of 2351 1/2 out of a possible 3,000; O. A. C. came second with 2346 points; W. S. C. was third, registering 2331 and Utah filled the cellar with 2287 1/2. The highest individual score was 515 out of a possible 600, by F. B. Schnebly of W. S. C. W. K. Peery of the local team stood second with 506 points. The showing of the O. A. C. team was largely due to his excellent work.

Six classes of stock were judged, each man being graded upon the basis of a possible 100 for each class, making a total of 600 points for each man or 3000 for the entire team. Of the six classes judged, two were of dairy cattle, two of beef cattle, one of sheep and one of swine. The judges were John L. Smith, a prominent Holstein breeder of Spokane, and Dr. Gordon H. True.

W. K. Peery, Second High Man.

The great showing made by the O. A. C. team, considering the difficulties under which it labored, is a glowing tribute to the standard of work maintained here, as well as to the individual ability of the men themselves.

He was highly honored by the American Pomological Society by being elected vice-president of that society for the coming year.

While in the East, Prof. Lewis made a special study of the market conditions of western fruits in Eastern markets, with special attention to the cities of Chicago, New York, and Washington, and some New England centers, the results of which study, he expects to apply in his class work and in the Winter Short Course lectures.

Among the colleges visited were Cornell, New York State Experimental Station at Geneva, and Iowa Agricultural College at Ames. Prof. Lewis reports having seen a number of former O. A. C. students while in the East. I. W. Riis is attending Massachusetts Agricultural College, and Hetzel and Harrington, at Ames, are getting along very successfully.

CLASS BASKETBALL SATURDAY NIGHT

SECOND SERIES OF GAMES PROMISE EXCITEMENT.

All Teams Thoroughly Primed and Much Uncertainty Displayed as to Results.

A feeling of uncertainty regarding the outcome of the Junior-Freshman game Saturday evening is evident on the campus. Since the first games of the series last Saturday, the situation of the teams has changed tremendously. While then all signs pointed to the Sophomores and Juniors with the Seniors and Freshmen apparently safe in third and fourth places, now it would take a prophet to point out any team of the four as sure of success or failure.

The week's practice has shown changes in every team, but especially in the Freshman squad. Stung by their defeat, the first suffered by a Freshman basketball team in years, the first year men are improving rapidly under the tutelage of King, Varsity forward. They have demonstrated a new ability by trimming the Seniors in practice. Altogether, it seems certain that the team which goes on the floor Saturday will not be the unorganized, inexperienced one which the Sophomores defeated last week, but a team that will give the Juniors a battle royal.

On the other hand the Juniors are not admitting for a minute that their team is out of the running. Overconfidence is blamed for the loss of the Senior game.

The Sophomores are acknowledged to have a good team, but whether the playing that won against the inexperienced Freshmen will have any effect on the strong Senior aggregation is a question that the game Saturday alone can answer. Blakely is the one man to be feared.

Judged from all angles, the Seniors have a little the best of it in the dope line. The players are fast, the passing is accurate, and in Eddy and Babb they have men of unusual ability. The fact that they have beaten the Juniors, who were credited with championship ability at the beginning of the season, is another point in their favor.

The Rooks will not finish their basketball season with the close of the interclass games. Meetings with the Oregon Freshmen and Astoria High School are to be arranged. Four games will be played with the Oregon first year men; the two played at Corvallis will probably come on Jan. 21 and 22 or Jan. 30 and 31.

BANQUET GIVEN BY SHAKOPS IN HONOR OF DEBATORS.

Forty Enjoy Big Dinner and Speeches by Faculty and Students. Rousing Send-off for Teams.

One of the most important events of the week was the banquet given Wednesday night for the debating team by the Shakopean Society. In giving this banquet, the Shakopeans have established a precedent which bids fair to put forensic activity on a stronger footing than it has ever had before.

Covers were laid for about forty. The dinner itself was delicious and the table fairly groaned with good things to eat.

After everyone had finished his first course, "Hiram" Hill, acting as toast master, called on Prof. Peterson for a few remarks. Mr. Lemon then spoke most enthusiastically of college forensics. Prof. Berchtold followed, speaking of the interest that his department felt in the work and assuring the debaters of his hearty co-operation, after which a number of students spoke on topics appropos to the occasion.

The Shakopeans were generous in their hospitality including among their guests not only debaters, but those of the faculty in any way connected with forensics, students who had taken active part in debate work and the girls in school who had participated in Interclass declamation contests. Those present were: H. Hill, R. M. Rutledge, O. B. Hayes, E. B. Lemon, S. H. Peterson, L. P. Gambee, F. McCabe, G. R. Hoerner, R. A. Parcel, H. M. Curry, E. H. Reichart, Miss Joy Mason, Miss Karen Hansen, Miss Hazel Holt, Miss Anna Rutledge, R. B. Case, F. A. Holmes, F. J. Dietsch, O. Ballhorn, F. Neer, J. E. Norton, O. G. Reeves, M. R. Hoff, H. Odeen, P. M. Collins, W. F. Kehrl, J. E. Cooter, R. Chrisman, H. C. Gilbert, R. Miller, T. A. Rice, A. Wheeler, Prof. F. G. Dubach, Prof. F. Berchtold.

GRIDIRON STARS TO PLAY BASKETBALL

MAY TO CAPTAIN BACKFIELD. CHRISMAN LEADS LINE.

Gold Footballs to be Bought from Proceeds and Presented to Members of Team.

By Kenneth L. Fox, '16.
Captain May will lead his backfield team-mates against Captain Chrisman's line men in a benefit basketball game to be played next Thursday night in the gymnasium at 7:00 p. m. sharp. A small admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged and the proceeds will go towards buying gold footballs for the members of the team.

This is a custom which has been in vogue for a number of years and has always been a big drawing card. Previous games of this nature have assumed the aspect of a first class roughhouse but the two teams promise to put up a style of game that will not embody any "rough stuff." All the men have been on the floor practicing and some great team work is being developed.

It has been the good luck of the linemen in previous years to administer the sleep medicine to their backfield opponents but with Capt. May of international basketball fame, leading the plunging backs this year, it looks as if a new precedent might be established. Chrisman, the versatile leader of the linemen claims that it can't be done which goes to show that rivalry is keen and neither team is liable to "stuff."

With such a treat before them, every loyal O. A. C. student should be more than willing to contribute their meagre twenty-five cents toward such a good cause.

The following men are candidates for positions on the teams:

Backfield—May, Capt.; Blackwell, Robertson, Abraham, Schuster, Hayes, Rasmussen, Lutz, and Yeager. Line—Chrisman, Capt.; Moore, Anderson, Huntley, Billie, Dewey, Smart, Laythe, Smith, Hofer, and Larsen. Billie King will umpire.

"MIKE" HAYES ELECTED TO SENIOR PLAY MANAGERSHIP.

No Definite Plans Have Been Made. Miss Rosaen Will Probably Coach. Good Play Assured.

M. C. Hayes was elected manager of the Senior play, Thursday afternoon, receiving one more vote than W. K. Peery. F. E. Neer, the other nominee, was also a close rival.

M. C. Hayes, Senior Play Manager.

Manager Hayes has no definite plans as yet, but he expects to have them well under way before long. Miss Rosaen will in all probability act as coach. With this news, and considering the material in the 1914 class and the length of time they will have to prepare, an excellent play may be expected.

EASTERNERS' BALL AT ARM- ORY THIS EVENING AT 7:30.

Big Time Promised by Those in Charge. Nifty Decorations. Grand March at 7:30.

That the Easterners' Ball to be held tonight will be one of the most brilliant social events of the year is evident. All committees report that everything is progressing splendidly. Bob Shinn is working faithfully on his original plans for decoration and if everything is carried out according to his idea the O. N. G. hall will be a bower of beauty. J. M. Armstrong is devoting his entire time toward the construction end of it. The Glee Club orchestra has been secured and superior music is expected.

Those receiving invitations, faculty and students alike, must obtain presentation cards before Friday night from Stambach, Murphy, Fox, Warner, M. C. Hayes, or Paul Freydis. The Grand March will start promptly at 7:30 and it is desired that all be there by 7:25.

STUDENT BODY AGAIN VOTES FOR "CO-OP"

COMMITTEE OF FIVE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE.

At Meeting Wednesday Favorable Talks Made by Prominent Students. Dickey at Head.

The Co-operative Book Store was the all important, and only, subject taken up in Wednesday's Student Body meeting. Its merits were ably brought forth by Henry Odeen, who opened the discussion with a few remarks concerning its purpose and the benefits to be derived from it, economy for the student in buying of books; quicker service; and a profit to the Student Body. He said in part:

"The present bookstore handles approximately $30,000 worth of business each year. A 10% profit makes $3,000, which is cleared off the students annually. Most of this amount would be saved to the students under the co-operative system. There would be much better service if handled by students. Therefore, I suggest that a committee be appointed to investigate eastern schools and to draw up a plan for O. A. C."

Following Odeen's remarks A. F. Mason outlined the general plan of organization and operation as prepared by a committee last year, but which was rejected by the Board of Regents. As an illustration of the feasibility of the plan, and its practical value he mentioned the Co-operative Store of the University of California, conducted by the students of that institution, and which is on a sound basis at this time.

A committee of five was appointed to investigate other co-operative stores and to draw up a plan whereby it would be made possible to establish one in this college. The members of this committee are: C. A. Dickey, chairman; Henry Odeen, Russell Howard, Otto Ballhorn, and one other to be chosen by the above members. A. F. Mason was chosen as the fifth member.

There being no business other than the "Co-op" of importance, the meeting adjourned early. The attendance was poor.

DEAN OF FORESTRY SCHOOL TO MAKE EXTENDED TRIP.

Prof. Peavy to Visit Many Eastern Colleges of Forestry. Will Investigate Co-op Problem.

Thursday at 2:30 p. m., Dean Geo. W. Peavy, head of the School of Forestry at O. A. C., left for an extended trip East during which he will investigate the U. S. Forestry Service Products Laboratories and forestry departments at a number of big schools.

He will first visit the forestry department at the University of Washington at Seattle, and from there will go to St. Paul, Minn., where the forestry school of the state is located. Next he will inspect the U. S. Forest Service Products Laboratories at Wisconsin University, at Madison; and will later visit the forestry school at Ann Arbor, of which he is a graduate. Syracuse and Cornell Universities are other institutions on his visiting list.

After a tour of inspection at Yale, Prof. Peavy will go from New Haven to the headquarters of the National Forest Service at Washington, D. C.

The Dean hopes to bring back with him many new ideas which will aid the plans under way for the establishment of a state forestry products laboratory at O. A. C. The work carried on will be timber testing, and conversion of waste into secondary products, as alcohol, turpentine and charcoal.

While on his trip Prof. Peavy will make an effort to observe methods of student self government and the management of co-operative stores in Eastern colleges, with the object of gaining information which will be of value to the local Student Body.

Counting the ballots at the Junior Week-end election Thursday night was interesting. At no time during the tallying could the winners be foretold, so close was the race for each place. Betzel beat out Thomas by two votes and Smith by five votes in the race for General Manager. E. G. Bates was elected Junior Prom manager by nine votes over Stambach. Manager of Junior Play was won by Williamson who defeated Shurtliff by nine votes. Jordan carried seven more votes than Berry for week-end manager.

THE CO-OPERATIVE STORE.

Why should the students of the institution pay large prices for the supplies they use, when those supplies are sold by a store on the campus, run by the Business Office, theoretically for the interests of the students?

Why should the students of the institution suffer much inconvenience from the mismanagement of the bookstore, when it is usually inexcusable?

Why should the merchants of the city of Corvallis oppose the establishment of co-operative store, when it is planning on handling such supplies as are now handled through the College, and which form practically no part of the trade which is taken to the merchants of the town?

Why cannot the student body of this institution have a co-operative store?

Those are a few of the questions which confronted the students when they held their third annual meeting for the consideration of the proposition of establishing a co-operative store, for the third time in three consecutive years. In truth, it doth appear as if the Co-op were to be the standing business before our august body, and as if we were evermore doomed to wriggle in the talons of monopoly, "unheralded, unsung, but not unstung."

There are many reasons why the "Co-op" would be an advantage to O. A. C. The most significant of these is the fact that a material reduction could be made in the cost of supplies used by the students. As it is, the books are sold at prices such as would be charged by firms paying high rent, and with great overhead expenses. However, when the College Bookstore receives its building free, its lighting free, and has very little expense in handling the books, the profits must be considerable. In addition to charging top-notch prices for every kind of supplies, the store willfully overcharges on some things. An example may well be noted: The Extension Department has been using great quantities of paper of about 40-pound stock—common newspaper stock. They have been paying 50 cents per ream for this paper, getting it for $5.00 per dozen reams, when a dozen were needed. The Extension Department felt that they were being overcharged by the bookstore, so they sent to Portland and ordered the same paper. They received it here in Corvallis for 17 cents per ream. The bookstore had trebled the price, taking 200% profit. Is that a fair profit? So much for the matter of overcharging.

The present bookstore is very inefficient. Students and even whole departments are forced to wait weeks and even months for texts, and other supplies. The departments have ordered books as far ahead as four months, only to find when the time for use arrived, that they either had not been ordered at all, or that the order had been cut in two, so that there were not half enough to go around.

If we ran the store ourselves, we would have entire control of the management, an assurance of efficiency. If we ran the Co-op we would get supplies at decreased cost. If we ran the Co-op it would be one more step toward complete self-government.

Let us run the Co-op.

BAND SHOWS MUCH CLASS IN CONCERT

ROSS JOHNSON AND OSCAR
JAMES STAR PERFORMERS.

"Slip-horn" Men Make Hit. Excellent Program Well Rendered.
Capt. Beard Gets Credit.

The O. A. C. Band presented an excellent program before a well filled house last night, in their annual concert. Standing out strongly throughout the whole concert was the excellent work of the brass section, and the competence and ability of the director, Capt. Harry Beard.

The repertoire showed considerable variety. The Overture from "Poet and Peasant" was clearly the best rendered selection, with the pot pourri from Rigoletto a close second. The feature numbers were also good.

At times during the evening a weakness in the reed section was very noticeable, it being too light to balance the heavy brass. On the whole, however, the organization performed well, and evidences much care in their training.

Special mention must be made of the solos by Ross Johnson. His number, "A Legend of Kashmir," was beautifully rendered, and enthusiastically encored. He responded with "Neath de Coppah Moon," which he sang even better than his first selection.

Oscar James proved his musical ability to the utmost. His solo on the tuba was an eye-opener for everyone in the audience. He brought out sweet tones and exquisite melodies on the big horn, and altogether covered himself with glory.

The clarinet duet by Kennedy and McGinnis showed careful preparation and ability. They played their difficult passages with ease and skill. The saxophone quartette and trombone quintette merited much praise, the former showing a little trepidation when the harder parts of their numbers were reached. The "Slip-horns" were immense, and brought down the house.

Captain Beard again demonstrated his ability as a conductor, having worked up a repertoire of high order in little less than three months.

The Y. M. C. A. will unite with the churches of Corvallis Sunday afternoon, and instead of holding the usual meeting in Shepard Hall, all Association members and other students are invited and urged to attend the meeting to be held in the Majestic Theater at 3:00 o'clock. Evangelist Law will be the speaker.

FARMERS' WEEK A SUCCESS DESPITE BIG ATTRACTIONS.

Poultry Show Includes Many Features—Total Registration 567, of Which 263 Are Students.

Farmers' Week has been a success this year notwithstanding the fact that there have been two other Oregon events to attract aggressive farmers that otherwise might have come here this week. These events are the big Livestock Show and the State Horticultural Association meeting.

Wednesday evening the total registration was 567. However, 263 of this number were regular students. The total registration last year was 605. Students are still registering and it is thought that the number this year will be even greater than last year.

The lectures this year have been extensive and have dealt with live practical problems. There are several demonstrations in the dairy building, and the Poultry Show in the new barn is especially good. Four reels of motion pictures were shown in connection with the Poultry Show, including methods of marketing products and the net profits by the average farmer, the methods of housing and feeding, the methods of hatching, and last and best, the two world's champion hens with the champion flock. Other features of the Poultry Show are the two champion layers themselves, a large exhibit of pedigreed layers, feeding ration on charts, feeds, a model hen house, methods of handling and packing eggs, and many practical hints.

Many farmers have expressed themselves very much satisfied with their visit here so far. The course will be completed Saturday noon.

Wednesday evening the Home Economics Club and Short Course students had the pleasure of hearing Miss Lillian Tingle of Portland, give a very interesting talk on the subject "Thrift Practiced in the Old Country." Following the talk a short business meeting of the Club was held when the following committees were appointed for the Ag. Fair: Supt., Merle Rowen; D. S. Com., Cordelia Goffe, Rose Wilson, Edith Allworth; Fruits Com., Lucile Chase, Ruth Hill, Katherine McDermott; Candy Com., Alberta Cavendar, Helen Horning, Katherine Smith; Domestic Art Com., Bertha Hendricks, Loraine Parker, Genevieve Porter; Constitution Com., Mildred Wilson, Marion Young, Abbey Coon.
