PLAY BALL with ASSOCIATED

AGAIN, and for the 10th consecutive year, the whole Pacific Coast plays ball with Associated — over the air for more than 200 hours and over the highways driving to the games.

Through its ten years of football broadcasting Associated has made many friends and has held them through outstanding progress in service and products.

For example, if you think all gasolines are "more or less alike" — if you regard driving as just another job — try Associated Aviation Ethyl.

COMMENTS BY THE SECRETARY

Interested in Their Product

The addresses of the School of Pharmacy graduates are kept up to date in the office of Dean Ziefle and the steady employment of these graduates is almost 100 per cent. The same holds true in the School of Forestry. The type of work these graduates follow helps make this possible. Nevertheless it is a big job and the two schools should be complimented for their efforts.

Rooks Know the Ropes

The lean depression years have made the high school graduate a more serious individual. The boy or girl registering in college now wants to be sure that he will be able to make a living after he graduates. That is the reason for 1300 freshmen registering at Oregon State this fall.

Vim, Vigor and Vitality

The college has one of the finest physical education departments in the United States as far as programs are concerned. The intramural athletic branch in 1934-35 had 87.3 per cent of the men in college participating in their various games and contests. R. O. Coleman, '18 ("Coley" to you), heads up the latter phase of physical education. C. V. Langton is the director of the physical education department.

What Do You Think?

After being secretary of the Oregon State Alumni association just one month I have come to certain definite conclusions.

One—The reason alumni secretaries fail is because they are so busy trying to get alumni dues collected in order to pay monthly bills that no time is left to carry on a constructive program.

Two—For some reason or other our alumni haven't a great deal of college spirit (I do not blame the alumni for this condition). The spirit should have been built up while they were in college. If the cause hasn't been corrected, let's correct it now. Your opinion on this problem is earnestly requested.

Three—That I will try to correct the above ailment and build a constructive program designed to sell Oregon State to the people of Oregon and tie the alumni definitely into this program.

Four—That the alumni could make this easier and receive the benefits sooner by paying their dues immediately and urging others to do so.

Write in your opinions.

Knutsen Will Get You Started

Portland alumni should get behind President George Knutsen of the Portland Alumni club. He is a sincere and hard-working leader. You can get a lot of pleasure out of the club luncheons on the first and third Mondays of each month. You are almost sure to run into some of your close friends there. If you care to enter into the activities of the club, that opportunity is always available and there is no end of enjoyment in doing something for the college and the college needs workers too. Call George Knutsen, Atwater 1105, and he will help you become an active Oregon Stater.

Bigger and Better

Homecoming this year is going to be the biggest and best of recent years. The Rook-Frosh game is in Corvallis Friday night and what a show these games have been. These freshmen certainly put life into that game called football!

The big game is on Saturday and the varsity teams are supposed to be a little more dignified, but last year some of the players, remembering the good old freshman games, turned the varsity tussle into a riot. Don't miss it, and then plan on returning to Corvallis to celebrate at the Homecoming banquet. Dr. Frederick M. Hunter will be the main speaker and you should hear him.

They Recognize Values

Can anyone tell me why the alumni who have been out of school for some time are more active for Oregon State than most of the recent graduates? Do they realize the good the college has done for them and they want to show their appreciation? Do they make working for the Alma Mater a hobby? Why? Why? Opinions will be appreciated.

PORTLANDERS ABOVE PAR

Sam Dolan, veteran speaker at scores of Oregon State pep rallies, gave an inspiring talk to 150 Orange alumni who had gathered at the Nortonia hotel in Portland Monday, October 21, to honor former football players of the college. It was by far the most spirited and well attended luncheon in years.

Al Finlay, general chairman, was pepped up for the occasion and the crowd, sensing his enthusiasm, was given a chance to turn loose some of its own steam. When Chuck Stidd, imitating a college cheer and song leader, waved his baton the gang cheered and sang their lustiest.

Ranson Meinke and George Baldwin spoke briefly concerning plans for the rally and dance preceding the Washington State game. Dick Stinson's name was drawn from a hat, making him the lucky recipient of two choice tickets for the Washington State game.

Let's have more meetings of that type!

School Back to Normal

There is no gloom around Oregon State college. Once again the old Alma Mater is easily the largest school in the state. Over thirty-one hundred students are now registered, which brings the enrollment back to almost normal size. For a year or two the University of Oregon took the lead due to the late depression and other causes, but Oregon State is again back on top. The senior and junior classes are still very much below normal; so we can expect rather large increases for the next two years; after that the growth will be more gradual. The University has around 2700 or more; the exact figure is not known at this time.

Corvallis Responds First

The Corvallis business men have responded in a big way to the call of the Alumni association for their financial support. As this is written, 112 firms have subscribed for the Oregon State Monthly. More are coming in every day; so before the year is out we should have a very high percentage of the local business firms backing the association.

Always a Beaver

Often the question arises as to what persons are eligible for membership in the association. Any person who has attended Oregon State two terms or longer may become a member of the Alumni association by paying three dollars for his annual dues. HELP US GET NEW MEMBERS BY ASKING OTHERS TO JOIN.

Spirit Lifter-Uppers

Lon Stiner has eight good sophomore backfield men. They will run, pass and kick that ball several miles during the next three years. The depression is over!

Dad's Dues Due—Do Dad

Get the Oregon State dads of your acquaintance interested in the Dads' club. They will get much enjoyment out of the club and having them interested helps Oregon State. They can become active members by sending the one dollar annual dues to A. E. (Al) Finlay, 132 Northwest Flanders, Portland.

Home Fires Blaze Welcome

Let's get the spirit of always being a part of Oregon State. Graduation shouldn't cause you to sever all connections with the school. "Once a student always a student" should be our motto. Graduation shows that you have completed certain requirements but doesn't release you from Oregon State's family circle. COME HOME and visit the folks any time, especially November 8 and 9.

Mothers clubs of Oregon State and the University of Oregon are developing state-wide interest in both institutions by their recent tendency to combine the efforts of both clubs in furthering projects concerning alumni and parent groups.

Beavers, Coming Home?

New Chancellor to Speak at Alumni Banquet; Display of Spirit Planned

Well, the Beaver gridmen kicked the slats out of the Horse of Troy and made themselves a Homecoming Duck pen. This pen will be put into use Saturday, November 9 at Eugene in the Oregon-OSC grid classic, main feature and a revived tradition of Beaver homecoming the weekend of October 8 and 9. This date isn't far into the future, and alums of Oregon State will start registering at the Memorial Union Friday, November 8 for one of the biggest homecomings of Beavers in years. Registration will continue through Friday and Saturday.

Dr. F. M. Hunter, new chancellor of higher education in Oregon, will talk to Beavers of before-his-time at the alumni banquet in the Memorial Union ballroom Saturday evening. Frederick Steiwer, U.S. Senator from Oregon, a graduate of the 1902 class will speak for the Alumni at large.

Russell Tegnell, senior in chemical engineering, was made general chairman of the homecoming program. He has appointed committee heads for the major events which will combine to make Homecoming what it implies. On the program are water regatta, OSC-U. of O. football game, the second Rook-Frosh clash, two rally dances, rook bonfire, noise parade, alumni banquet, house signs, midnight matinees and numerous other affairs for a young-and-old Beaver convention.

The Oregon State rowing club is really "going to town" and will break the ice at 2 o'clock Friday when they begin homecoming activities on the Willamette. They will select a ruler for the water regatta and fourteen varsity oarsmen will propel her regal float past the throng gathered to watch the display. Two princesses will attend her majesty. An interclub race will be held because no other crew in the northwest is ready for competition at this time of year. All northwest crews were contacted and all regretfully submitted negative answers but asked for competition dates next spring. Jolly Batchellor is chairman of the water regatta and his assisting committee consists of Einar Flood, Willis Baker, Dean Painter, Ed Smith and Jimmie Johnson.

Russell Tegnell, general chairman of OSC homecoming, has planned a big celebration for graduate and undergraduate Beavers. His committee heads have nearly completed ostentatious and peppy programs for homecoming the weekend of November 8 and 9.

A colorful and rackety noise parade led by the Oregon State motorcycle club will leave Monroe and Thirteenth at 6:15 o'clock, wind around through town and then go to the Rook bonfire. Each fraternity will enter a noise making contraption called floats in the parade and the noisest will be rewarded with a trophy. Last year the rotating trophy was taken by Delta Chi. The most original float will be compensated with the awarding of a smaller trophy. Last year everything from cow bells to steam rollers was employed by the men in an effort to claim the trophy for having the noisest apparatus. It's hard to tell what will be resorted to this year. The winners of the deafening competition will be announced at the half time period of the Rook-Frosh pigskin scramble on Bell Field.

The paraders will touch off the rook conflagration and listen to rally speeches by Jack Graham, president of the associated students of Oregon State, and probably Sam Dolan, prominent alumnus. The American Legion drum corps and the OSC ROTC military band will play at the fire. Yells will be led by the varsity yell leaders. Shorty Lowe, rally committee chairman, and members of the committee are in charge of the parade.

The OSC Rooks, with a previous 9 to 0 victory to their credit, and the Frosh begin their dispute under the lights at 8 o'clock on Bell Field. Yearling Coach Hal Moe announced his probable starting lineup as follows: Don Coons and Joe Wendlick, ends; Roy Conn and Leon Sterling, tackles; Boyd Whitney and Eli Cagle, guards; Bob McCalley, center; Joe Enzler, quarterback; Johnny Alexander, left halfback; Jay Mercer, right halfback, and Ben Ell, fullback.

Midnight matinees with orchestras and entertainment have been planned for homecomers. The Whiteside and the Majestic theaters will be open. A campus orchestra will play at each show and the Oregon State military band will aid the first-nighters in raising the roof at the Whiteside. Jim Edwards, chairman of the midnight matinees committee, is aided by Laura Reimer, Everett Reynolds, Franklin VanPelt, Jane Blair, Harold Hammers, Dorothy Umphreys, Ed Torgerson and Delores DeLong. Late permission has been extended to 2 o'clock allowing ample time for young Beavers to take in all the activity.

A special train, filled with Beaver rooters—old and new, orchestras, bands, and many other peppy elements of Oregon State, will take the OSC rooting section to that traditionally spirited and much conversed Oregon State-Oregon struggle for yardage and scores on the gridiron at Eugene. Six-foot Orange and Black letters spelling O R E G O N S T A T E will be fastened on the outside of the special in ostentatious manner. The price for this peppy ride has been set indefinitely between 75 cents and $1. After the ball (pigskin) is over, the same merry making crew of Beavers will return to their Alma Mater via rail. Tommy Cauthers, yell leader, is in charge of transportation.

Homecoming Beavers will convene at the alumni banquet in the Memorial Union at 7 o'clock. Seats are reserved and cost 75 cents. Reservations should be made early. Chancellor Hunter will speak and alums will give short talks. Following the banquet, the ballroom will be cleared for a rally dance which starts at 9:30 o'clock. Norman Green is chairman of the banquet. His committee consists of Letty Warrington, Irene Etter, Duane Ackerson, Fred Wood, Ed Parsons.

Another rally dance starts in the Women's building at 8:30 o'clock. Tickets will be interchangeable at both dances and will consist of large O's, black for men and orange for women. The motif of decorations in the Memorial Union is to tie living groups and the football team into the spirit of homecoming. A huge orange and black Varsity O will be decked with photographs of the team and placed at one end of the ballroom. From each picture streamers will lead to emblems of the various living groups hung about the dance hall. The letters used on the Eugene special will be involved in the decorations in the Women's building. John Busch and his compus orchestra are scheduled to play in the M.U. and Dick Mote's orchestra will furnish the other dance with music.

Mothers' Clubs Get Together in Portland

AN INCREASING movement toward joint action by Oregon State college and University of Oregon alumni and parent groups was given important impetus late in October when the mothers' clubs of both institutions combined to hold a joint tea in Portland honoring Chancellor and Mrs. Frederick M. Hunter.

This arrangement, which was highly praised by the guests of honor, came about through the efforts of the two founders and two present presidents of the clubs. Mrs. Miles Kaye Cooper, founder and first president of the Oregon State Mothers, took the initiative in bringing together Mrs. Walter H. Cook, founder of the University group, Mrs. A. H. Lea, president of the Oregon State mothers, and Mrs. George Brice, president of the University organization to serve as a central committee to plan the affair.

The tea was held at the Masonic temple between 2:30 and 5 o'clock on Tuesday, October 29. It was pronounced one of the most outstanding social affairs of the fall season in Portland and drew a representative group of mothers, friends, faculty members and students of the two institutions.

Receiving with the honor guests were Mrs. George W. Peavy, wife of the president of OSC; Mrs. Clarence V. Boyer, wife of the president of the University of Oregon; Mrs. A. H. Lea, president of the Oregon State mothers, and Mrs. George Brice, president of the University mothers.

Among the prominent women who served during the tea hours were: Mrs. Charles H. Martin, Mrs. E. C. Sammons, Mrs. B. F. Irvine, Mrs. Beatrice Walton Sackett, Mrs. Willard Marks, Mrs. Leif S. Finseth, Mrs. Herman Oliver, Mrs. F. E. Callister, Mrs. Edwin C. Peace, Mrs. C. A. Beard, Mrs. Burt Brown Barker, Mrs. W. J. Kerr, Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, Mrs. Miles Kaye Cooper, Mrs. Walter M. Cook, Mrs. W. R. Millar, Mrs. Earle Wellington, Mrs. Delmore Shaver, Mrs. A. M. Dibble, Mrs. J. C. Plankington, Mrs. Jacob Kanzler, Mrs. Ted Cramer, Mrs. Willard Bond, Mrs. A. E. Finley, Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar, Mrs. Herbert Miller, Mrs. Elbert C. Peets, Mrs. J. F. Hill and Mrs. O. M. Plummer.

Mrs. Roy T. Bishop, Mrs. Walter M. Cook, Mrs. Thomas Bilyeu and Mrs. Stuart H. Sheldon decorated the tea tables and other decorations were in charge of Mrs. B. L. Hiatt, Mrs. T. J. McCracken, Mrs. A. H. Lundberg and Mrs. B. F. VanKirk.

In charge of serving were: Mrs. F. A. Anderson, Mrs. John A. Wilson, Mrs. Thom J. Aughinbaugh, Mrs. U. L. Upson, Mrs. Robert M. Parker, Mrs. Harry Kick, Mrs. L. G. Millard, Mrs. George Knutson, Mrs. R. Schloth, Mrs. J. W. Mayo, Mrs. Kenneth Poole and Mrs. F. B. Hammond.

REGISTER EARLY

You should register early when you return for Homecoming. By doing so you give your old friends an opportunity to find you before leaving. There will be a place for you to leave your phone number or address while you are in Corvallis. You can also check the list to locate your friends. If you will co-operate on this small item I feel sure that everyone will have a bigger and better time.

ENJOY YOUR VISIT.

REGISTER FRIDAY NIGHT BEFORE THE ROOK GAME.

THE WHY OF IT

Seats at the Homecoming banquet will be reserved. By doing this the people who send in their reservations early are assured of seats near the speakers' platform. Installed for the occasion will be a public address system so all can hear, but the last ones to apply will be farthest from the speakers' table. Also you can be sure to sit with friends if you buy your tickets together.

The banquet tickets are 75 cents each, which is a low charge for functions of this kind. It will be an informal occasion so don't let the wrinkles and creases of a long trip keep you from attending.

"Entered as second class matter, October 6, 1926, at the Post office at Corvallis, Oregon, under the act of March 3, 1879."

THE PRESIDENT'S PEN IN ACTION

Oregon Staters:

First off the bat, I'll have to tell you the why of this letter. It's your new Alumni Secretary, George Scott. George has it all figured out that college presidents, besides being ornamental, are to be used in doing the odd jobs no one else has time to do. I hope he is as persuasive in getting Association memberships as he was in putting this over to me. Some day I am going to tell you-all why you should join the Oregon State Alumni Association. Right now I'm going to let it go by saying that an active, aggressive and progressive alumni organization is a vital asset to an educational institution. To the College it is an ever present help in time of trouble, a bulwark against the forces which destroy, and a guarantee of perpetuity. So George imagined he was earning his salary when he wished this letter writing job off on me.

Oregon State is on the way, all sails set and colors flying. First term enrollment, 3131. Last year the average was 2500, and the year before, 1934. These are magic figures. There is inspiration in them.

There is a bit of prophecy in them. They mean that higher education in Oregon is settling down. They mean renewed confidence and faith in the institution. They mean, too, that during the past three years the alumni and friends have kept faith, that they have worked loyally and persistently for Oregon State. As Doc Dubach says, "By heck, we're going to town!" Strong language for a Methodist, but even Methodists break out at times.

Don't get the idea we are worshipping numbers. These boys and girls are the raw material for our educational mill, the same as you were. They are a challenge to us—something for us to work on. I mean, we sort of point the way. The finished product of the years past is coming to be the backbone of the Oregon of today. What a leader we have had, you and I and the rest of us! "Service to the State." That's the banner Prexy Kerr unfurled; turning out boys and girls for a quarter of a century, inspired by the ideal of service. We still have the inspiration of that dynamic leadership. It is our firm resolve that the Oregon State banner shall never be lowered. Your responsibility and mine.

We have a wonderful student body; fine, earnest, purposeful, clean, democratic; good leadership among them. Pretty good pals with the faculty, some of them. The idea appears to be growing that it's a fairly smart thing for faculty and students to work together. Some of them are your boys and girls. Be assured of this: We are going to do the very best we can for them. There are a few fundamentals we insist on, the same as we did when you were here. Beyond these, it's up to them. And the rank and file come through in mighty fine shape.

Believe it or not, Oregon State and the University of Oregon are getting together. The way I see it, it's a case of hang together or hang separately. I'm for hanging together. So is President Boyer. Fine chap, Boyer. He and I work together. Large part of our faculties have the same notion. Advancing one institution at the expense of the other is all out. Oregon State and the University Mothers' Clubs got together in Portland. U. of O. and O.S.C. alumni are planning a joint meeting. Oregon's State System of Higher Education! That's the thing. Oregon, and the boys and girls of Oregon. Oregon State in its field; the University in its field. Territory enough for all of us.

The new Chancellor is on the job. We will like him. He is going to like us. Experienced, understanding, sympathetic. To win the approbation of Chancellor Hunter is to do well the work assigned to us. There will be no upsetting of the established order. Oregon State is going to get a square deal. That's enough for any institution. If we all work together, there's a great future for the State System of Higher education, and for Oregon State. Incidentally, we are all the units of the State System of Higher Education, but our immediate job is to work everlasting for Oregon State.

George W. Peavy, president of Oregon State College, and contributor of this article, writes a cheering and spirited letter to OSC alumni, friends, and students. He sees a greater state coming as a result of higher education.

OREGON-OREGON STATE GAME?

By Art Taaffe

And now gentlemen comes the game of games—the annual football clash between University of Oregon and Oregon State college. The game this year will be played at Eugene November 9. The contest will be the windup to a long list of athletic activities celebrating homecoming. As a warmup to the varsity contest the Oregon frosh will meet the State rooks in the second game of their annual two-game series at Corvallis Friday night (November 8) at 8:00 o'clock. The Rooks took the opener at Eugene a couple of weeks ago by the score of 9 to 0.

For those interested in the history of the varsity game between the two state institutions the coming contest is the 40th. Football relations between the two schools were started away back in 1894 and Oregon State won the initial contest by the score of 16 to 0. Oregon has a decided edge in the number of victories registered since then. If you must know the results here they are. Oregon has come out on top 23 times; Oregon State nine times, and five games ended in ties. Oregon won the game last season by the score of 9 to 6. The game was played at Portland.

Not since 1930 have the Orangemen trimmed their friendly rivals. The game that year favored Oregon State, 15 to 0. In 1931 the contest ended in a scoreless tie. In 1932 Oregon won by the score of 12 to 6 and again in 1933 by the score of 13 to 3.

Picking the winner for any athletic contest between Oregon and Oregon State is just guess work. Especially is this true when it comes to doping the winner of the annual football contest. Too often has the favorite come out on the short end of the score.

The coming contest is just as tough to dope as any other. Oregon, from every angle, is without doubt the favorite and should win but as aforementioned any thing may happen and the dope bucket take another spill.

Oregon has practically the same team that trimmed the Orangemen last season whereas, Oregon State has a brand new squad—a squad on which are 19 sophomores. Inexperience may be the chief handicap to the Orange team. Injuries also may hurt the Orange chances for victory as 11 Orangemen were put on the shelf following the game with Washington State college at Portland October 26. Seven of these injuries were knee strains, something that takes some time to heal.

Judging from comparative scores made in games so far this season Oregon State has the edge. Oregon defeated Gonzaga early in the season by the score of 18 to 0 and Oregon State defeated the same team four weeks ago by the score of 33 to 6. U.C.L.A. defeated Oregon State by the score of 20 to 7, October 5 at Portland and the Uclas walloped Oregon by the score of 33 to 6, October 26 at Los Angeles. Using these scores as a basis for doping the winner would give the Orangemen a decided advantage.

The recent victory of the Orange rooks over University of Oregon frosh may be put in the class of "big upsets." Oregon boasted of having its greatest freshman team in the history of the Webfoot institution, nevertheless, the rooks, under the coaching of Hal Moe, played inspired ball and came home with the well known bacon. The game November 8 between the two yearling teams promises to be a classic.

And again for those interested in the history of football relations between the Frosh and Rooks the record books show that these two teams started football relations in 1910. Since then the Frosh have come out on top 15 times and the Rooks ten. Five games ended in a tie. Last year the first year men broke even when the Frosh won the first game by the score of 10 to 7 at Eugene and the Rooks took the second 12 to 3 at Corvallis.

AMES CLUB MEETS

True to its custom, the Ames (Iowa) club of Oregon Staters held its annual election of officers at the first meeting of the school year which this time took place on October 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Smith, 258 Highland avenue.

The following officers were chosen: President, Victor P. Hessler, '26; vice-president, Robert Stone, '32; secretary-treasurer, Lenore M. Sullivan, '22; corresponding secretary, John E. Smith, '02.

Those in attendance at this meeting besides the newly elected officers were Professor Herbert J. Gilkey, '11, and Mrs. Gilkey; Professor Harvey L. Lantz, '16, and Mrs. Lantz; Professor John B. Peterson, '28, and Mrs. Peterson; Mrs. Ava Hamlin Hessler, '25; Eleanor Selover Wilkins, '19; Mrs. Margaret Atwood Stone, '32; Professor Fern W. Gleiser, and Mrs. Willetta Moore Smith, '16.

The club accepted the invitation of Eleanor Selover Wilkins and Lula May Brandt, '18, for the meeting to be held on the date of the Oregon game, when a program improvised for the occasion will be enjoyed while reports of the games are being received.

DADS TO VISIT CAMPUS

The Dads of Oregon State students are invited to the campus for the annual event of Dads Day on Saturday, November 16.

The day starts off with a general meeting scheduled for 11 o'clock in the Memorial Union. At noon there will be an open luncheon in the dormitory and at the same time the various fraternities and sororities will serve lunches for their Dads. The Dads will have a special section reserved at the Idaho-Oregon State football game. The tickets for this section have been reduced to one dollar each.

At 6 o'clock in the evening there will be a banquet for the Dads and students, and a splendid program of music and speeches has been arranged. The banquet will be over early which will give the Dads plenty of time to finish off the day visiting with their sons and daughters.

Homecoming

A new feature of homecoming will be broadcast over KOAC beginning at 9:15 o'clock. The University of Oregon has been invited to join with OSC in broadcasting a pep rally. Captains of both teams will give short talks, OSC homecoming committee heads will be interviewed by Tegnell at various times throughout the program, Dick Mote's orchestra will play and George Scott, Oregon State alumni secretary, is going to speak. There will be comedy skits, two piano teams and many other features to enliven the program. Linc Miller, radio editor of the Barometer, is in charge of the broadcast.

Tentative plans have been made for a fireworks display and short program on Bell field during the half period of the Rook-Frosh game. Following the rally dances, which close at 11:30 o'clock, alumni and students may join in the vocal serenade planned by Tommy Cauthers.

Attractive and clever house signs are expected this year in competition for the rotating cup given the house displaying the most originality in their sign. Delta Chi won the trophy last year, Delta Upsilon placed second and Phi Gamma Delta third. Kappa Alpha Theta took the women's cup, Kappa Kappa Gamma second, and Alpha Gamma Delta third. Both first places have been won by these house for two years. If they win the cup this year it is for keeps. Judges for the competition are F. L. Robinson, associate professor of accounting; J. L. Fairbanks, professor of art and architecture; G. C. Balkum, professor of sociology. Bernie Stain is chairman of the house signs committee and is assisted by Viola Fulkerson, Kay Knudson, Eddie Mays, and Wayne Chaney. The signs must be completed and displayed before 4 o'clock Friday, judging time, or they will be excluded from competition judging.

More electrical signs will be used in campus decorations this year. They will be placed at all entrances to the campus and at various places all over the Beaver home territory.

Homecoming programs are going to get a boost up to eight pages with attractive covers and the "low down" on everything can be extracted from their contents.

College Men and Women

PHI DELTS PLEDGED 18 MEN to the Oregon Beta chapter on the Oregon State campus after a successful rush week. Inculding the 18 new Phikeias, the total equals a full house of Phi Delts.

Brothers Patrick and Kolberg and Phikeias Fischer, Jowdy, Jones and Cornwall are making a good showing on the varsity football team. Phikeias Ell, Mercer, Conn, Wendlick and Howard are clashing cleats with the '35 rook grid potentialities. The chapter is undefeated so far in all branches of intramural athletics.

October 12, we are having a dinner for the sisters of all Phi Delt members and pledges. We are having our annual pledge dance on the eve of the Idaho football game November 16.

We want all old Phis back for homecoming to look over the pledges and to see Oregon State beat Oregon on the weekend of November 9.

TWENTY-ONE MEN WERE PLEDGED by Phi Gamma Delta at the beginning of this term. Plans are being made for social activities and participation in campus affairs, as the house gets off on the right foot toward a prospectively good year.

Two of the pledges are outstanding on the rook football team and several other pledges have already shown active participation in varied campus activities. A large majority of the members hold prominent positions in the campus life. In addition to extra-curricular activities, the house is maintaining its high scholastic standing, has the honor of claiming four sets of brothers and is full to capacity.

An informal house dance is to be held Saturday, November 23, in the chapter house.

Several alumni have visited the chapter early this term. Grads who came to "check up" included E. C. Hobbs and Bob Taylor, '30; Rod Keating and Tony Messing and wife of Balboa Beach, Calif. Ed Adams, '33, was recently married, and now is assistant coach at Corvallis High school.

CHI PHI IS WELL SETTLED in their new chapter house at 27 Park Terrace. The men still regret the passing and miss the presence of E. E. Bosworth, their former adviser. H. R. Patterson has taken over the advisership.

The increase in enrollment has made quite a change in Oregon State and the house is looking forward to an enjoyable year. It is the hope of the men to see a good percentage of the alumni at homecoming.

Eight new pledges this term brought the total up to 32 men with 26 living in the house.

SIGMA CHI pledged 13 men by the end of the second week of rushing this term. This brings the total up to 28 with 19 men living in the house.

Those interchangeable left halfbacks, Bob Mountain and Joe Gray, who have the habit of running kick-offs and punts back for touchdowns, bring Sigma Chi into the head lines quite often. In addition to these boys, Tommy Swanson, John Watts, Ed Creider and Dale Lillebo represent the local chapter on the gridiron.

Journalism attracts several men in the house, Ed Creider being assistant sports editor of the Beaver and a member of the Barometer staff, and Ed Earp is a section co-head on the Beaver and a night editor on the Barometer.

The Sigs recently honored their pledges with a dinner and dance at the chapter house. A semi-formal dance is scheduled for October 27 to be held at the house. A program full of extra-curricular activities is in sight for the men for all year.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO TOPS LIST of fraternities with a grade point average of 1.84 for the third term of last year, by nosing in ahead of Sigma Phi Epsilon, perennial holders of the grade title for several terms.

The men of the "house" are giving more interest to activities this year with several of the ambitious ones realizing advantages. Dudley Sitton, freshman in agriculture, is turning out for rook football and Wallace Thompson, sophomore in forestry, is taking crew. Randall Grimes and John Carmen were on the stock judging team and Hudson White was on the grain judging team which represented OSC at the Portland International. In Ag Club activities, AGR is represented by Don Robins, who is in charge of the radio programs which are given over KOAC by the club. James Wight holds down a position on the Ag. Journal staff.

SIGMA KAPPA HONORED ALUMNI at an informal dinner at the local chapter house Tuesday, October 15. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Shupe (Bessie McCaw, '21), Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Stutz (Bertha Whillock, '18), Miss Regina Dusenberry, '38, Miss Betty Lynd Thompson, Miss Eleanor Spike, '25, and Mrs. James C. Moore (Harriet Forest, '22).

ALUMNI SUPPORT OF KAPPA SIG is reported as an important factor in their successful rushing this term. The house reports very favorable results of this year's rushing. Several social events are scheduled for the local chapter and more are planned for the coming year.

SIGMA NU HOUSE WAS DAMAGED by fire which started in the basement a week before freshman week this year. It appeared after investigation that the fire started in some sawdust that was too close to the furnace. Loss from the fire and smoke amounted to between twelve and thirteen hundred dollars. The entire loss was covered by insurance. The house was in reconditioned shape for freshman week after a few major repairs.

The first day of pledging the chapter pledged thirteen men. Three more were added on the second pledging day.

JEAN ROSS HEADS THETAS this year with a staff of officers consisting of the following: Florence Shull, vice-president; Eunice Cottrell, manager; Geraldine Spicer, corresponding secretary. There are 25 women living in the Kappa Alpha Theta house this term. Thirteen new pledges were taken in at the beginning of the school year.

Isobel Slade, '35, visited the house during a recent week end. Model Hystead, who was in school last term and has since been in North Dakota, also spent several days at the house this term. Elizabeth Kelly, '25, was a dinner guest on October 21. Virginia Fendall, who was also in school last year, spent a week end at the house this term.

PHI KAPPA TAU INITIATED Orrin Fox and William Cogburn at the local chapter house recently. Lawrence Johnson, one of the charter members of the local chapter, was a visitor at the house for a dinner and fireside bullfest following the initiation.

A NEW MAC FOR SAE has been acquired in the form of a long, gangley St. Bernard pup, with feet it appears he will never grow into. He is the successor to MacKinley I, the twelve-year-old chapter mascot who died last summer.

Mac, the pup, has been imbued, apparently through his present surroundings, with an indefatigable lust for knowledge — knowledge, however, which he seeks to acquire through ingestion. Recently he discarded his puppy-hood playthings, badly torn gloves and tatters of cloth, for the more cultural things of life. One of the brothers, arriving home from class, happened upon a new text book of his lying on the floor and badly mangled. Alongside of it lay Mac, with a newly-acquired expression of profoundness on his face and the wisp of a sentence, the last of his first twenty-page assignment, dangling from his lips.

ALUMNAE AND STUDENT ALPHA CHI OMEGAS are "going places and doing things" about getting jobs and honors both on and off the campus. Ruth Forrester, '35 in home economics, has, since July, been a student dietitian at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, Md. Barbara Graham, also a home economics graduate of '35, is teaching in the high school at Napa, Calif., where she is managing the cafeteria. Florence Sheldon, '35 in science, is studying for her master's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Among the senior members of the local chapter who recently were initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honorary, are Charlotte Redfield, AWS president; and Lillian Holm, chairman of the AWS lyceum course. Both Miss Holm and Miss Redfield are members of Mortar Board. Phi Kappa Phi freshman awards were presented to Letty Warrington and Frances Jensen at a recent convocation.

Another recent initiation was that of Talons, honor society. Alpha Chi members are Jane Bezzant, Betty White, Eda Jean Bolton, and Laura Huddleston.

ALUMNAE VISITORS AT ALPHA DELTA PI during the month included Betty Jelinck, '34; Carol Boyd, '24; Josie Holms, nee Josie Daly, '35; and Mrs. Alice B. Fisher, former house mother of the local chapter.

A larger living room, new dining room, colonial entrance, new driveway and various other novel attractions were added to the chapter house when it was remodeled this summer. You alumni won't recognize it during homecoming.

KAPPA DELTA HAS MOVED to a new location at 2305 Monroe street, where the women say they are well pleased with the new house.

Sunday evening, October 20, Kappa Delta gave their annual formal dinner honoring Founder's day. Guests included Mrs. Thomas Onsdorf, Miss Virginia Davalt, Miss Alice Vernon, Mrs. Burton Hutton, Mrs. E. G. Hastie, Mrs. Harry Omer, Mrs. J. Sterrett, Miss Mae Masterton, and Mrs. W. Harver.

THETA KAPPA NU RATED THIRD on fraternity row in pledging competition this term. Eighteen pledge pins went into service following action of the house to begin this year with a bang.

The annual fall radio dance was held at the chapter house October 12, and the pledge dinner October 20. A pledge dance has been scheduled for November 16.

Theta Kappa Nu is represented in intramural activities by a touch football team that has about broken even so far this season, with some contests played and others scheduled.

SALEM FUN CONTINUES

Forty-five Salem alumni club members met in the Quelle restaurant

Thursday, October 17, to hear Dr. W. J. Kerr give a review on Oregon State college and point out the possibilities for the future.

Dr. Kerr, with the worries of the chancellorship off his mind, was enthusiastic in giving his opinion of the future of higher education. He believes that all the schools in the system are approaching a brighter era. They have undergone trying times and will be just that much better as a result of the many things they have learned.

Two tickets to the Washington State game were given for the attendance prize. Martin Elle was the lucky person, winning the tickets.

Rough and Tough

If you are interested in watching football players with the "do or die" spirit, just focus your field glasses—if you have them—or your good old orbs on Ed Strack, Ken Deming and Woody Joslin. They play for keeps.

It's in the Blood

1924's TAKE NOTE

There will be a meeting of the Class of '24 on November 9 at 9 o'clock after the Homecoming banquet. The purpose of the meeting will be to formulate reunion plans.

It was decided at the last convocation before graduation that all members would make every effort to be on hand 12 years after graduation. All the valuable papers of the class, such as the last will and prophecy, are to be dug up at the spring reunion. These documents were placed in a bottle and buried in the spring of VTBD. Only five members of the class know the secret hiding place of these historic papers.

All the '24's who are nearby should be here for the Homecoming meeting to help on the reunion program. The committee in charge is composed of Bill North, Hod Lewis and Florence Gradon Ragen.

The meeting will be held in Room 210 Memorial Union.

They're the Tops

Captain Harry L. Beard, '99, has an outstanding band again this year. As a matter of fact, have you ever heard an Oregon State band that wasn't top notch? Furthermore they usually do a pretty nice job of marching. I am always glad to give the band a toot.

Investment Justified

Education should be of service to the state. It should make better individuals so that the state will be better by having them. Oregon State does this for Oregon.

HELP! HELP!

Designate yourself to get alumni subscriptions. Anyone who has attended Oregon State two terms is eligible.

The cost is small, $3 per year, 25 cents per month, 6 cents per week, less than 1 cent per day.

Pay $1 per month for three months.

"I'M A telephone installer and I like to be busy. A good many people are calling up these days and saying they would like to have a telephone put in.

"Often they will make an appointment and it's my job to be there on the dot. The company is a stickler for that. More than 97% of the appointments made with subscribers are now met at the exact time requested. We're trying to do even better than that.

"Seems to me it's something worth while —putting in a telephone. People always seem happier when I tell them they are connected and everything is O. K. Especially if they have been without the telephone for a little while. Most everybody says the same thing—'We missed it.'

"Well, I hope it keeps up. It means a lot to have a telephone in the house and it means a lot to us fellows who work for the telephone company."

Dr. Clarence Gilstrap was in San Francisco in October and early November for the meeting of the American College of Surgeons. Gilstrap, his wife, formerly Julia Hulse, '24, and son live at 502 Washington street, LaGrande. The son is now attending LaGrande schools.

1924

Bill North travels over Oregon frequently in doing his business as agency organizer for the New York Life Insurance company so was able to give the Monthly a fund of information on those he has seen recently. Here he rambles on at random:

"Almost as interesting as was the great game that Oregon State played here in Portland on October 5 against UCLA, particularly during the first quarter, was the fun of seeing a number of old grads. Literally hundreds of them turned out. To list them all would be impossible; however, from where I sat I saw Russell Stearns, who is with the accounting firm of Lybrand, Ross Brothers & Montgomery here in Portland, getting along very nicely.

"Also I saw Mr. and Mrs. Ed Allworth ('16 and Peggy Walker, '19) seated with Mr. and Mrs. Ade Sieberts ('17 and Erma Stidd, '18) almost behind the same post I was.

"Then there were Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hoven ('28 and Elizabeth Stout, '31). Morris works for the McCormick Steamship company here.

"Then there were a large number of those from the staff in Corvallis in attendance so all in all, orange pompons and orange ribbons were quite in evidence in our section.

"In Klamath Falls the other day I had a fine visit with Percy Murray. If you go to Klamath Falls you should call and see Percy. He has one of the very finest, most up-to-date creameries in the northwest and I know that is taking in a lot of territory. The arrangement is unique. It is departmentalized to perfection, spotlessly clean, smooth running and a real inspiration to survey. Percy took me throughout the plant and the basement was just as neat as the main floor. I am told that they have a splendid business and the air of prosperity certainly abounds in the vicinity of the Klamath Creamery company where Percy is one of the owners.

"It was also gratifying to have a little visit with Bob Fulton while in Klamath Falls. Bob and I were in the same company at the start of the war. We pounded the pavements on the drill grounds of Goat Hill. That has been a long time ago but Bob looks just about as outstanding as then, and they tell me he is doing a 'bang-up' job as accountant for the California-Oregon Power company.

"Working there also are quite a flock of Oregon Staters. Bob Gorden has just joined the organization and is out seeing that the South Central Oregon people are having the advantages of the newest in electrical appliances. He is doing a good job, they tell me.

"Over in Medford the other day I was sitting along with a group of lonely traveling men in the lobby of the Medford hotel listening to Joe Louis make a monkey out of Baer and who should come in but Ken Denman, '27, along with a large number of young business men who, I believe, comprise the Active club in that city. Ken, being a lawyer, ably fills the position of president of the group.

"I lunch quite frequently over at the Chamber of Commerce here and on Thursday if you want to see an Oregon State parade it is a good idea to get there a little early and see the boys come in. Last Thursday I got quite a kick out of seeing prominent Oregon Staters in that group. Among the outstanding ones in attendance were Walter Blaessing, '25, in the decorating business here in town; Allan Rinehart, '29, former president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the Beaver Engraving company, and Dick Brown, '34, who helps keep the Oregon Journal in a position to boast of its classified advertising leadership in Oregon.

"I attended an Ad club meeting some weeks ago and listened to a very able talk by Al Brown, '23, who extolled the merits of canned cheese. That was a new one on me but after the talk and the demonstration of the unique container and an opportunity to sample the cheese, along with everyone else I agreed that it was a grand idea. Del Snider, '28, was introduced as the party in charge of the advertising of this cheese. They are having some kind of a contest to see what names should be used instead of 'Question Mark,' which is the present name under which this cheese sells.

"I had a good letter from Percy Locey the other day. At first he typed a note which took the form of an official announcement that a letter was coming. About three days later we got a four-page letter in longhand, and what a letter! It is the thrill of a lifetime to get a letter from Perc and the only trouble is that they don't come often enough. Perc is making quite a record at the University of Denver. He likes his work and believes that he is ordained to be a coach for a long time. He said that he hoped to get up here sometime during the winter or early spring—of course that was good news.

"Naturally, a letter from Perc is such an event that I had to call Dr. Howard P. "Hod" Lewis, and we went out to lunch and had—using Perc's letter as a third person—a real old-time reunion.

Of course we didn't discuss campus politics but discussed lots of other things and had a good time. We agreed to collaborate in the answer to Perc. Dr. Lewis is building a remarkably fine practice here in Portland. He is on the staff of the Oregon Medical college part-time and works his private practice the balance of the time.

"Walking down the street yesterday I saw Frank Johnson in his dapper uniform of a customs officer. Frank has been in that service for several years now and the last time I saw him he told me he enjoyed it very much.

"Bayard Miller, formerly of Gresham, who has spent the last several years

TESTS PROVE TRITON STOPS CARBON KNOCKS!

100,000 mile road tests prove TRITON keeps motors free from excess carbon... reduces or entirely eliminates "pinging" within a few thousand miles!

RECENT tests made with 12 cars of popular make have proved that Triton will cut down excessive carbon deposits formed by other oils, and reduce or completely eliminate "pinging" within a few thousand miles! They proved, also, that if you start a clean motor with Triton and any grade of gasoline which prevents knocking at that time—it will always operate without knocking on that same grade of gasoline! (See chart above.)

Triton is made by Union's patented PROPANE Solvent Process. It is 100% pure paraffin-base, entirely free from low-grade materials found in other oils. It is more stable in use...has longer life...reduces engine wear.

Make the 3-Months' Test!

Try three fillings of Triton, and note, how, with each successive oil change, your motor runs smoother, gives improved performance. Triton costs only 30c a quart in sealed cans.

pleasure to a lot of people.*

More cigarettes are smoked today because more people know about them—they are better advertised.

But the main reason for the increase is that they are made better—made of better tobaccos; then again the tobaccos are blended—a blend of Domestic and Turkish tobaccos.

Chesterfield is made of mild, ripe tobaccos.

Everything that science knows about is used in making it a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

We believe you will enjoy them.
