Many Alumni Participate in Annual Business Meeting

The annual business meeting of the Association held at 10:30 o'clock on the morning of June 7, 1924, was opened with President S. B. Hall presiding and about 150 persons present.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the General Secretary gave her annual report. This report reviewed briefly the work of the Association for the past three years in its effort to disabuse the minds of the alumni of the misconception that the association exists for the purpose of extracting money from them and that the college administration does not wish an active, virile alumni association. The objective of the Association was stated to be the bringing of alumni to the realization that the function of the alumni association is to preserve the choicest sentiments and memories of college life, maintain the ties of friendship and worthwhile training formed in undergraduate days and attempt to unite former students, faculty and present undergraduates in one great bond of Beaver Brotherhood—a bond of mutual good fellowship and intelligent pride in the Alma Mater. Also, that the administration has been vitally interested and given consistent, material aid in all such efforts.

Summary of Work at Headquarters

Work of alumni headquarters includes maintenance of alphabetical and geographical files, individual financial accounts, printing of the alumni directory, editing the monthly magazine, encouraging the formation and work of local clubs, publishing the first O. A. C. Song Book, arranging for homecoming celebrations and class reunions.

A special campaign to learn the whereabouts of non-graduates of O. A. C. has increased the files and found some 3000 lost persons, bringing the active mailing files of the Association to a total of about 6500.

Local clubs have increased this year to 20 in Oregon, 5 in California, 1 each in Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, New York, Montana, and Washington—making a total of 32.

The treasurer, Claude Buchanan, '03, revealed the fact that 711 alumni were paid-up members for the year 1923-24 and that total receipts of the Association last year reached $3029.53. Of this total $1265.20 was deposited in the Trust Fund, bringing that total to $3100. One hundred per cent paid-up classes included 1871, 1872, 1875. The class of '98 showed 10 out of 26 paid. Class of 1919 showed 30 per cent paid up, while 1912, 1918, 1921 and 1922 were 20 per cent paid up.

Memorial Union Secretary Reports Progress

Mr. P. A. Cupper, '04, secretary of the Memorial Union Building Campaign committee appointed last year reported activities and announced that an intensive public campaign was to be opened next fall. To date a Memorial Union constitution has been prepared and mutually agreed to by students, alumni and regents. The Memorial Union is incorporated under the laws of the State of Oregon. One Hundred Dollar Life Membership notes have been prepared and alumni are fast signing them even though the public campaign has not yet started. Fifty Dollar Life Membership notes for students in their last year of school have been prepared also and the 1924 class is supporting the cause loyally. Any sum paid in to the Building Fund as a student is deducted from the note. The student fund now totals about $73,000. The building contemplated is one costing from between $400,000 and $500,000. It will probably be situated on the ground just east and north of Commerce Hall and extending to Monroe street. Talk on the Memorial Union from several alumni followed the report from Mr. Cupper.

The Committee on Athletics appointed by the Board of Directors last winter submitted a written report setting forth its work in building up machinery for receiving contributions to aid in defraying increased coaching assistance at the College. Several hundred dollars have been received to date. Discussion of alumni support of this enterprise followed, with the net result that the assembly seemed to think that alumni should lend even more support to the project in order that they may keep faith with the college Board of Control which is counting on this alumni aid in its athletic program.

Dix Reunion Plan Adopted

The official adoption of the Dix plan of reunion was proposed and passed. This plan of having groups of classes that were in school at the same time hold reunions together has been on trial for the past three years and met with success.

A motion for a petition to the president for the reservation of an alumni section of seats for the baccalaureate and graduation exercises was made and passed. General Secretary explained that this action had already been taken by the administration.

Mrs. Lyle Laurence-Levinger presented the '99 class gift of a stand for the alumni register.

A proposed O. A. C. Creed was read by the secretary and discussed by assembly. Voted to present a Life Membership in the Association to the person turning in a creed which should be adopted.

Charles F. McKnight, '98, from Marshfield, Oregon, was unanimously elected to the Board of Directors to serve for the next five years.

"The ladder of life is full of splinters but we never realize it until we begin to slide down—Keep Climbing."

Forum Becomes Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society

(By LULA MAY-BRANDT, Secretary)

Forum, upper class honor society, after ten years of steady development as a force for high scholastic standards and ideals of honor on the O. A. C. campus, is now the Oregon State chapter of Phi Kappa Phi. Installation took place on June 6, 1924.

Dr. L. W. Hartman, a regent of Phi Kappa Phi from the University of Nevada, was in charge of the installation ceremonies held at the College Library at 10 o'clock on the morning of June 6. After the 30 charter members were initiated and the chapter installed, the officers of the Oregon State chapter took charge and initiated into membership President W. J. Kerr, together with the alumni, nearly 100 of whom were present, representing students of highest standing from most of the classes graduated from O. A. C.

Phi Kappa Phi differs from Phi Beta Kappa mainly in recognizing pre-eminence in scholarship not merely within the field of Liberal Arts, but in all fields of educational endeavor. The charter granted

A banquet presided over by Dean M. E. Smith followed the initiation ceremonies. Scholarly toasts were the order of the day. They were given by Dr. W. J. Kerr; Dr. L. W. Hartman, installing officer; W. L. Patterson, class of '99; Harry Card, '24, Forum Chancellor; Edwin T. Reed, college editor; Professor D. C. Thorpe, Phi Kappa Phi from the University of Oregon; Dr. U. G. Dubach, Professor of Government and Business Law, and Kate W. Jameson, dean of women.

Officers of the local chapter are: president, Dean M. E. Smith; vice-president, Lilly Nordgren; secretary, Mrs. A. E. Brandt (Lula May); treasurer, Zelta Feike; marshal, Elvin Hoy.

History of Forum

The beginning of Forum dates back to May, 1914, when the Men's Upperclass Honorary Society and the Women's Upperclass Honorary Society were united. Membership in Forum was at that time and has always been based on moral character, scholarship, and participation in student activities indicative of leadership.

The first public administrative recognition was given Forum in the spring of 1919. In April of that year the first "Forum Convocation" was held when newly elected members were announced and a special speaker addressed the entire assembly of students and faculty.

In the same year the first "Forum Barometer" was issued, and the aims and ideals of Forum were thus brought more forcibly and clearly before the students and faculty.

Traditions of the college have been inaugurated and fostered by Forum through a publication of its own and through development of sentiment in the lower classes. On various occasions Forum has taken the lead to unite all departmental honor societies into one body for the discussion of campus problems.

The Honor System of the Oregon State Agricultural College is particularly a product of Forum, whose members worked diligently in creating the proper sentiment toward the honor system and were responsible for writing the amendment to the constitution of the Associated Students providing for it.

In recognition of the standards maintained by Forum and the work already accomplished by that local organization, Phi Kappa Phi, the national all school honor society, approved the Forum petition and granted a chapter making eligible for membership all members of Forum since its organization in 1914.

It was the privilege of Forum petitioners, at the time of installation, to elect for initiation with them a small number from each of the classes graduating before them. These were chosen from among the students highest in scholastic standing and eligible by reason of this and other qualifications to membership in Phi Kappa Phi. Consequently 111 were elected to membership from the classes prior to 1914.

Plant Pathologist is Complimented

Charles E. Owens, associate professor of plant pathology, who is author of "Manual of Plant Pathology" has been recognized as having produced the best manual of its kind obtainable in this country. Latest recognition is by Dr. George K. Link, who is to develop plant pathology at the University of Chicago. He says, "I would like to start using your outline. It is by far the best thing available."

to O. A. C. establishes the thirty-eighth chapter in this organization, including some 8000 persons. Phi Kappa Phi was founded at the University of Maine in 1897. Wherever the fraternity has set up its standard it has been an aggressive agency for the promotion of high ideals of character and scholarship in the broadest and best sense.

Inasmuch as Phi Kappa Phi is an all-school honor society, it is an agency which brings together on a common basis students of different schools and gives opportunity for fellowship which is an invaluable asset to the college. In the great school of knowledge it recognizes no school or college separate from another. It brings together in its meetings undergraduates and alumni of all schools and divisions. Thus the meetings tend to weld together the entire college or university into one common world of democracy and learning. It is the only national honor society or fraternity which can claim this benefit to the college or university in which it is located.

ALUMNI HEADQUARTERS SCENE OF MANY HAPPY SMILING FACES

The one free-for-all, informal good time of the Reunions was the luncheon, served picnic style in the Women's Gymnasium. Plans had been made for the usual out-of-door picnic but the threatening clouds caused a shifting of arrangements.

Headquarters were established in the Women's Gym, however, and the crowd which flocked to the place was highly satisfactory. The seniors in caps and gowns were the honor guests of the day. Faculty folk were also present upon special invitation from the Association. Under the management of Florence Berchtold, '19, a "regular" luncheon which met the large approval of all was served. The menu included meat loaf, hot rolls and butter, pickles, cabbage-pimiento salad, pie a la mode and coffee.

As they Came and Went at Headquarters

Typical Reunion Group

Registration booths were arranged around the walls for the various classes. Many an old friend and teacher was found and greeted while the "youngest of all" class gained some vague idea of the reverence in which classmates and the Alma Mater are held. Altogether it was a most happy affair which finally melted away to class affairs and campus inspections, before the reception, banquet and dance of the evening.

TEN-YEAR REUNION OF '14ERS BRINGS BACK MANY CLASSMATES

(By MILDRED WILSON-LEEDY)

The Class of 1914 met for its ten-year reunion on Alumni Day—40 strong. We came, verily, from the four corners of the earth, Miss Kate Failing having come from India to be present.

Of course, being good, old, faithful alumni we spent the morning at the annual alumni business meeting. At the luncheon in the Women's Gym, we got together for our real reunion. From the luncheon hour until 3:00 p.m. the event we have all looked forward to for years, took place—the unearthing of our dear old class records and memoirs. We spent a happy hour at this, an hour tinged with sadness as during the reading of our prophecy, our history, and so on, we came to the names of members who have passed on. Small 1914 pennants marked our class memorial trees 'neath which our treasures were buried.

Kate W. Failing, '14, who came from Ongole, South India

The reception and banquet given by President and Mrs. Kerr, was the next event on our program. We were not so fortunate as some of the other classes in being seated together and so even though the sparks of old 1914 spirit glittered throughout the crowd they could not be united and fanned into a flame. However, we did enjoy this wonderful banquet and program immensely and a number of us regained our youth enough to have a delightful time at the alumni dance following the banquet.

Class Breakfast is Big Event

Class of 1899 Holds Inspirational Silver Jubilee

The days of the Silver Jubilee have come and gone and the Silver Jubilee folk present declared them the most wonderful days of their lives. Words fail to express the joy of greeting classmates after 25 long years. The days of '95-'99 were actually lived again.

"When we reach the stage where we live in memories of the days gone by, these Silver Jubilee days will stand out as the most perfect of all on our calendar," said one.

Twenty out of a possible 30 left living in the class were back. The total, including families, was 40.

The Jubilee started off with a class dinner in the College Tea room. The '99 table was beautifully decorated with pink roses, thanks to the work of Mrs. R. L. Glass (Esther Purdy) and Mrs. A. R. Woodcock (Clara Lane) and the smiling faces of the big '99 family were fine to see. Other class dinners were held at the same time making the total present about 100. The '94 class, under the leadership of E. G. Emmett, was present 15 strong, the '95 class, with Mrs. Olive Hamilton-Miller in charge, rallied 15 back, and the '96 and '93 classes, guided by E. J. Newton and George W. Denman, numbered 10 present. The Silver Jubilee class of last year—1898—having had a taste of the good time in store, counted 10 on the campus again this year.

Many Talk at Meeting in Old Chapel

After the dinner all adjourned to the Old Chapel and many others came. More than 250 were present at this meeting which was opened by Hubert Scoggin leading the class yell:

"Hayfoot, Strawfoot, Right in Line; Rah, Rah, Webfoot, '99."

Manager J. A. van Groos with a smile on his face indicating supreme satisfaction over a task well done, presided at the meeting.

President W. J. Kerr gave a courteous address of welcome assuring the alumni that the real object which the administration has in view is to maintain a college such that its alumni will never have any cause to be ashamed of it.

"Pat" (W. L. Patterson) responded to the President's greeting by recalling some of the "good old days" and defining college spirit as "the love we have for the alma mater inspired by the personality—the spirit—of those splendid men and women who served as teachers and leaders."

"I do not believe the Almighty ever intended that human beings in this world should be supremely happy very often in a lifetime—perhaps about once in 25 years," said Harry Beard in greeting his classmates. He urged them to make the campus their own once again and not to mind if the old grape vine, the old pear tree and even the old whale bone were gone.

Frankie Cauthorn (now Mrs. A. C. McIntyre) was the same "Frankie" her classmates used to know and enjoy so much. In her reading of "The Man in the Shadow" she lived up to her old ability of bringing smiles and tears, and responded to the hearty encore with Edgar Guest's "Ma and the Auto."

Lyle Laurence (now Mrs. L. Levinger) paid a wonderful tribute to the late Margaret Snell—a tribute referred to by those present as a rare literary gem, beautifully presented. This tribute appears in full elsewhere in the magazine. After that a number of the college professors of olden days were called up, including Professor Berchtold, Mrs. Callahan, Miss Helen Crawford, Dean Covell, Dean Cordley and Professor Fulton.

On Saturday the '99 class picture was taken by the old Administration Building. It appears in the class groups in this issue. A larger picture of the group will be used in the class history showing the entire 20 present.

A short business meeting was held on Saturday afternoon in which it was decided to print a class history and include a number of commencement pictures as well as a stenographic report of the entire Silver Jubilee meeting. Each member of the class present agreed to contribute $5 toward the expense of this publication, and to ask those of the class not present to subscribe the same amount. All are requested to pay the $5 to the class manager, John A. van Groos, Corvallis, Oregon. Five members of the class have not yet contributed to the class gift presented to the alumni association. The manager is keeping an accurate account of all the contributors and the amount contributed. Later on an income and expense account will be sent out.

Cold type cannot express the warmth and joy of the meetings and greetings of this Silver Jubilee. A vivid imagination can picture it, but actual attendance at one's own Silver Jubilee is the only way to know it.

O. A. C. Song Book Proves Popular

If sales are at all indicative of the popularity of a publication, the O. A. C. Song Book is a success. Students going home for the summer bought them. Alumni returning for Reunions bought them. Faculty folk bought them. Former students wrote in for them. Even the Club Boys and Girls bought them. All together the demand shows that the Song Book is filling a long-felt need.

Copies are sold for $1.00. Mail orders should include five cents for mailing. The Coop Store and Graham and Wells Music Store also sell the book.

Says the Barometer editorial—"The O. A. C. Song Book is past the dream stage and has become an actuality. Much heralded and long awaited, its arrival will fill a great need among students, faculty and alumni. College brings much beside the material to those who pass through the 'vine-covered halls' and the memories of college songs is one of the treasures of student days."

Miss Taylor Leaves Y. W. C. A.

Gladys Taylor, for four years secretary of the local Y. W. C. A., has resigned her position and will go to the University of Chicago to study next year. She will take work in political economy, research in industrial relations and religious education. Her successor has not yet been obtained.

In the "Good Old Days" of Song

"Johnnie" Fulton, '92, reminiscing at the Silver Jubilee: "I can see Prof. Pritchard up there on the platform leading the singing, as if it were yesterday. On the end of his long and beautiful baton, gift of his student worshipers, was an exquisite silver lyre. This particular morning the singing wasn't going to suit him. Every moment he grew livelier and more energetic in his vain efforts to lift us out of the inertia of blue Monday. Finally, he burst out, 'What's the matter with you fallen sky larks? Usually you follow me like a lot of mocking birds, but now—Wake up! Here, watch the lyre on the end of this stick!' And from the back benches some jay-bird croaked, 'Which end?'"

REUNION OF 1915 CLASSMATES IS MARKED BY MUCH ACTIVITY

(By a '15er)

Thirty-eight loyal '15ers were present at the Reunion this June. First there was the registration on Friday at alumni headquarters in Commerce Hall, and meetings and greetings galore. Each '15er was given a badge of maroon with a white '15 on it. These badges were worn throughout the Reunion time.

We all attended the annual business meeting on Saturday morning and indulged in the exceedingly satisfying luncheon which followed. After that the crowd gathered around the lone tulip tree near the Home Economics building, which stands as our class memorial. And though we failed to locate our class records, we revived them from memory and had a jolly good time of it anyway. A picture of the group was taken later.

One thing followed another and next we got together at the banquet, a very enjoyable affair, given to all the alumni by President and Mrs. Kerr. They heard from us there for we showed them a thing or two in yells while we indulged ourselves in the good food, talks and delightful atmosphere of good fellowship. In fact, we vied with the Silver Jubilee folk for recognition.

Then we went over to the alumni dance at the Men's Gym and helped in receiving the 1924 graduating class into the Association.

Big Time at Class Breakfast

Best of all—there were 29 present at the Class Breakfast on Sunday morning. It began at 8:30 o'clock in Waldo Hall and Laura Heath, the untiring manager who made possible this gathering of the '15ers, presided. Beautiful programs printed in red and white, the class colors, and containing real photographs of campus scenes, appeared at each plate, together with pink rosebuds. Miss Hadwen donated bouquets of sweet peas for the table.

One chair at the head of the table was turned down in honor of our president, John Flint, who was unable to be present. At the roll call those present responded heartily with speeches, fun, and in the case of Ross Johnson, two Scotch dialect solos.

Abbie Coon-Williams who drove all the way from Gleichen, Canada, brought forth the few smiles that weren't already out by reading a "Pink Sheet Special," which told of a '15 picnic in which each member of the class was mentioned.

A big siren was given in response to the name of John Flint, and sincere regret was expressed at his inability to be present. A siren was also given to Manager Heath to which, due to lack of time or an unassuming spirit, she declined to respond.

Dr. L. N. Tartar of Corvallis, was chosen as president of the "gang" to act until the next Reunion in 1928, while Lillian Burns, Corvallis, was elected secretary.

It was some breakfast of grape-fruit, ham and eggs, biscuits and jam and coffee, after which we took in the baccalaureate services at the Men's Gym.

Sunday afternoon the visitors spent with their friends. Monday they attended the commencement exercises at which 416 graduates received diplomas.

Hail to '15 Reunions! On to 1928!

"We were fishing on the McKenzie for—er—for," began the story teller.

"Whales," somebody suggested.

"No," said the one who had been interrupted, "we were baiting with whales."

MAHOGANY STAND IS GIFT FROM SILVER JUBILEE CLASS

The Gift of the Class of 1899 presented to the Alumni Association during the business meeting on Saturday morning, June 2, typifies the strength and loyalty of that class and characterizes its constant willingness to support the work and worthwhile plans of another. The gift is a gracefully designed, beautifully carved and substantially built stand to hold the huge, handsome leather-bound alumni register presented to the Association by the class of 1898 last year. Mrs. Lyle Laurence-Levinger, the class president in 1899, presented the gift. Holding up the register of the '98 class, this stand marks a very certain point of interest at the alumni headquarters. There every visiting alumnus comes to record his or her name, class, and address. 'Tis a gift of lasting sentiment and usefulness. Thank you, '99ers.

Bouquet Made '06 Reunion Manager

"Please be advised," reads a communication just received from Phil Gearhart of Seattle, "that at a meeting of the '06 graduates present at Reunions on Saturday, June 7, A. G. Bouquet was selected as Reunion Manager for the 1906 Class whose reunion takes place in 1926."

Cheers for the '06 Class!

The 1904, 1905, and 1907 classes hold reunions at the same time. An announcement of their managers is expected at alumni headquarters just any time.

Members of the Class of 1906 are requested to communicate immediately with Manager Bouquet, Corvallis, Oregon.

TRIBUTE TO MARGARET C. SNELL IS GIVEN AT SILVER JUBILEE

(By MRS. LYLE LAURENCE LEVINGER, CLASS OF '99)

In a recent study of comparative religions, I was greatly interested in the Law of Karma, as found first in Brahmanism, later in Buddhism, and modernized in present day theosophy. During the life of Gautama Buddha (about four centuries before the Christian era, the philosophers of India crystallized their vague beliefs in the "Immortality of the Soul" into the doctrine of reincarnation. They taught that individual life is but an infinitesimal link in a long chain or cycle of existences, beginning in ignorance and ending in absolute knowledge, which was their idea of a heavenly state and was called by them "Nirvana."

Mrs. Lyle Laurence-Levinger, '99, and Mrs. Frankie Cauthorn-McIntyre, '99

They believed that man is born with certain tendencies, inclinations, (the legacy of previous existences), and that he is endowed with will power. Therefore he may choose to develop these tendencies, and thereby progress along life's path, or he may choose to neglect his talents, and thereby lose his opportunity in this great scheme of creation. Whichever course he may pursue, he is at all times subject to the Law of Karma or the Law of Cause and Effect, which is absolute justice in operation. The individual has the power to live his own life in his own way, but day by day he builds (by his acts) a record of his life, and when his cycle is ended this record is all that is immortal of his personal existence.

*"Karma—that total of a soul
Which is the things it did—the thoughts it had
The life it wove, with woof of viewless time Crossed on the warp invisible of—acts."*

Believe this doctrine with me just for tonight and let me present as a beautiful example of the law in positive operation the life of one who early recognized the inner urge, and devoted her years to its development and manifestation—one whose life was a sermon, and its effects immortal. I, therefore, present to you, with no thought of sadness, Margaret C. Snell, the living-living quite as truly today as when we knew her twenty-five years ago.

*"No need hath such to live as ye name life
That which began in her when she began is finished
She hath wrought the purpose through
Of what did make her man."*

Miss Snell was an idealist—a visionary, if you like. All the few who have stood at the outposts of progress have been visionaries. Her dream was of a new womanhood; her method of realization—education. She believed that women should be trained to be better wives and better mothers. She was a pioneer in the department of Domestic Science in the Northwest. She was a Californian, and no greater test of altruism can a Californian show, than to leave his native state and devote his life to uplifting those outside her boundaries. That Miss Snell chose this new line of endeavor is proof of her independence of thought, and her fearlessness in carrying out her convictions. In fact, she was in all things like unto herself, she patterned after none. The beaten paths had no allure for her. She went across the fields, and by the streams, and up the rocky lanes—wherever vision led.

Those of us who sat in her classes learned far less of cooking, far less of sewing, far less of special hygiene, than we learned of "Idealism and its Importance in Daily Life." While our hands were occupied with the practical duties of the course, our minds were kept on lofty thoughts. If we but had the time this evening for a "memory test," I am sure there is not one of Miss Snell's girls in this audience but that could recite scores of her quotations—quotations that have become a part of us, and can never be forgotten.

"A patch set upon a little breach discredits more in hiding of the fault than did the fault before it was so patched."

"Genius is a great capacity for taking pains."

"He who sweeps a floor as by God's law, makes that and the action beautiful"—and so I might go on indefinitely. Don't they sound familiar? And you remember the books she used to read us while we sewed? We didn't realize at the time that there was purpose in this reading and that our literary tastes were being formed.

Miss Snell was a graduate physician. Fresh air (with stress upon the wide open window at night), a well balanced diet, plenty of exercise, a cold bath each morning, proper clothing (her idea of proper clothing for women conforming very closely to present day fashion of loose fitting garments hung from the shoulders), these five laws repeated for emphasis constituted her ten commandments for perfect health; and were her guaranteed prescription for a never-failing elixir of youth. Her personal appearance, as I remember her, was proof of its efficiency.

Miss Snell Defines Ideal Woman

Miss Snell's idea of an educated woman was—a woman who can make a palace of a cabin—a woman who unconsciously furnishes the inspirational element in her home—a woman who sees only the beautiful in life, and who thinks only the good—a woman capable of adjusting her life to any and every environment—a woman who recognizes the fact that Motherhood is the greatest gift of God—these truths were hammered into our consciousness day in and day out, semester in and semester out,

Spanish War Veterans Hold Get-Together

Forty-five Spanish-American War Veterans from Camp Phillips, Albany, accepted the invitation of their O. A. C. comrades to celebrate on the campus during the Reunions. This year marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of their discharge from the Army.

The veterans and their families attended the baccalaureate services on Sunday morning in a body, after which they assembled 'round their headquarters tent just east of the Administration building and were served with a bounteous luncheon of scalloped corn, meat loaf, rolls and butter, pickles, pie a la mode, and coffee.

Col. C. E. Dentler, first O. A. C. Commandant, and Dr. J. B. Horner, director of Oregon historical research

Comrades Hern, Hurst, Lewis, Beard and Stal-maker, made short talks to the group. C. F. Zigler entertained by singing "Auld Lang Syne" in Chinese dialect.

B. F. Burnett who conceived having this get-together and laid plans for it, was unable to share in the reunion. He was compelled to return to his home in Roseburg early that morning because of illness. The Veterans expressed their sincere sympathy for Mr. Burnett.

Pictures of the group were taken and the company broke up in the late afternoon, declaring that they had an unforgettable day.

until they have become a permanent standard toward which we strive.

Miss Snell's life was like a lingering strain of music. We listened—and made some part of the melody our own. We, in turn, in our better moments, radiate the harmony to those about us. Hence she lives, and will continue to live.

It is a source of great satisfaction to the older women members of the Alumni Association that the "Powers That Be" of this institution have seen fit to name the splendid new women's building "Margaret Snell Hall." We appreciate as no outsider can, and are proud of the rapid forward strides that have been made in the Home Economics department, but we rejoice that you have realized that honor should be paid the woman who "blazed the trail."

In conclusion, I can think of no finer tribute to pay to the memory of Miss Snell, in behalf of her girls, than to add—

"We loved her living, and we love her now."

John Aldrich Has Watched Coming Day

The twenty-five year history of John G. Aldrich, of Lincoln, Nebraska, reveals the fact that he has made good in a consistent, progressive way since his departure from college in 1899.

He says his most lasting and valuable inspiration was received at O. A. C. He has attempted to follow the instructions of President Thomas M. Gatch: "Keep your face towards the coming day."

John G. Aldrich, '99

Mr. Aldrich is now the assistant general manager of the Woods Brothers Corporation of Lincoln, Nebraska, in which company he has devoted his years as travelling salesman, organizing and operating public utility in the subsidiary companies and later as assistant general manager.

Charter membership in the organization of two University Clubs, one at Spokane, Washington, and one at Lincoln, Nebraska, is credited to Mr. Aldrich and his appreciation of education. He is also a Mason, a Rotarian and member of the Chamber of Commerce. John G., Jr., 12 years old, is another cherished possession.

Truly his classmates were glad to greet him after his long drive across the continent to be present at his Silver Jubilee.

Resort Considered for Mary's River

Permission to install a recreation center along the bank of Mary's river has been asked by Day T. Bayley. His plans include the erection of a canoe house, swimming tank and facilities for light lunches as well as providing canoes of all kinds, and swimming equipment. He expects to have two men employed at all times to guard against accidents.

The resort will be similar to the Anchorage at the University of Oregon.

Alumni Welcome 416 New Members to the Rank

Greetings to the newest alumni—members of the class of 1924. We welcome you to the alumni ranks and pledge you our heartiest good will and best wishes.

More than 400 of you—416 to be exact, are entering the alumni association which has for its sole aim and purpose the uniting of O. A. C. alumni to serve the Alma Mater. True, 10 or 25 years hence, the Association may take on an added meaning and importance to you, but your feeling of real joy and pride in later years will be the stronger if you co-operate whole-heartedly with the alumni program from the first year out.

The Association has tried to make you feel your welcome by inviting you to the informal picnic luncheon on alumni day where it was hoped that the bountiful supply of food would indicate to you in some measure the overflowing good fellowship of the Association. Again, you were invited by the Benton County O. A. C. Club to the alumni dance in the Men's Gymnasium where by formal presentation to the Association and by informal meeting with other graduates and former students, it was hoped that you would be made to feel at home in your new sphere. Throughout your college career we have endeavored to show you, to some extent at least, of the work of the Association and its spirit of "Beaver helps Beaver."

Don't Forget Your Secretary

At your last class meeting you selected "Bill" North (Kalama, Washington) as your class secretary. You gave him the job of maintaining your class unity and individuality. His is not a one-man job; it is one for 416 of you. Write to him of yourself and other classmates. Make your criticisms and suggestions through him. That is what he is for. He is anxious to strike up a correspondence with you. He will keep up-to-date records of each of you and make monthly reports to the alumni office. These will reach you through the columns of the Alumnus.

You are one of us now. Won't you assume your obligation as an alumnus and support the alumni program. The O. A. C. Alumni Association is entering on a new era of prestige and influence. To be an active, paid-up member in the Association means something these days. And for the 1924 graduate, there is no surer or more effective way of showing real regard and loyalty for the "College on the Hill" than by preserving the 1924 class spirit through Secretary North and by maintaining general alumni and college contact through the alumni headquarters.

If you have not already paid your annual dues of $2.50, send them in. This insures you a monthly issue of the Alumnus. Or, better still, start payment on your Life Membership in the Association by paying the first $5 installment. This, too, will insure you the Alumnus. A $40 check will make you a paid-in-full Life Member and give you the magazine as long as you live, bringing you each month news of your classmates, other graduates and the activities and plans and progress of your Alma Mater.

Be a true and loyal Beaver. Join your alumni association in its onward march.

Formal Class Presentation Features Dance

Very impressive was the ceremony in which the Class of 1924 was presented formally to the Association. In columns of two the Grand March began, the class ascended to the main floor of the Men's Gymnasium where the members of the Association waited.

Dean G. A. Covell, school of engineering, presented the class to the Association with a few well-chosen words and retiring president S. B. Hall received them. Millard Scott, president of the '24 class, responded to Mr. Hall with a pledge of fealty from his classmates.

The orchestra struck up a dance refrain and the solemnity of the occasion changed to a lighter mood. Caps and gowns were laid aside and old and new graduates mingled with one another in the dance which followed—a dance which marked the close of the most wonderful Alumni Day of Reunions yet held on the O. A. C. campus.

Get An O. A. C. Sticker for Your Car

"Let's recognize each other as we pass day after day," is the plea of a '22 grad, R. H. Stenback whose letter was read and received with applause at the annual business meeting. He had reference to O. A. C. men and women putting one of the small O. A. C. pennant stickers on the windshields of their cars. "I shall always keep one there," he says, "for I find that it is very noticeable to all. O. A. C. students and alumni are glad to see it and knowing there is an O. A. C. person in the car will speak, sound horn, or make themselves known somehow. These stickers are attractive and not large enough to be obstructive.

BURNAUGH IS MADE PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION FOR 1924-25

A meeting of the new Board of Directors was held on Saturday afternoon, Alumni Day, S. L. Burnaugh, '03, was chosen chairman of the Board, hence president of the Association. P. A. Cupper was made vice-president, and Claude Buchanan, treasurer. Zelta Feike was re-appointed general secretary. Jay Reynolds was re-appointed as alumni representative on the Board of Control for the ensuing year.

Cornerstone of Fraternity House Laid

The cornerstone of the new Omega Upsilon home on Thirteenth and Monroe streets was laid on May 24. E. T. Reed, college editor, member of Phi Kappa Psi which Omega Upsilon is petitioning, was principal speaker.

The house is colonial in style and constructed of brick. It is expected to be finished before the opening of school in September, at a cost of approximately $26,000, the gift of the father of one of the members.

SECRETARY NORTH TELLS HIS 1924 CLASSMATES WHAT TO DO

We are all scattered in the four directions, each with the thought of getting a position and making a success uppermost in his or her mind. During the first few months we may be unmindful of our school and class relations, and particularly may we fail to look forward to our next meetings,—the reunions in 1926, 1931, and 1936. True, it's early, as far as time goes, to think of these. However, the months and years soon roll by, and in a short time we'll be meeting again. Particularly in 1936,—our twelve year Class Reunion, do we want the greatest gathering here that has ever been present for a similar occasion.

I shall endeavor to communicate with all of you at least twice a year, and in turn, I hope that I shall hear from each of you at least that often. I shall send monthly news items for publication in the O. A. C. Alumnus. So that I may know your whereabouts write me the details concerning yourself, occupation, etc. Let's set September first of this year as a date when you should have fulfilled this responsibility. Let's cooperate, for unless each member does his or her part, a Class Alumni Secretary is worthless.

BILL NORTH,

Secretary, Class 1924.

(Forwarding address) Kalama, Washington.

College Again Called "Distinguished"

Designation of Oregon Agricultural College as a "distinguished" college for the sixth consecutive time is announced in a telegram to President W. J. Kerr from General Charles Morton, commander of the ninth corps areas. "The secretary of war sends congratulations in which I join," reads the message.

Only 25 per cent of the colleges in the United States having similar military training are given the "distinguished" rating each year by the federal war department. The distinction carried with it the right of selecting five per cent of the graduates each year who have taken the reserve officers' training corps course, as honor graduates, one or more of whom is usually tendered a commission as second lieutenant in the regular army. Members of the cadet corps are also entitled to wear a gold star on the left sleeve of their uniforms, indicating the honor given the college.

Alpha Gamma Rho to Install Chapter

Kappa Tau, local fraternity, has been granted the Alpha Beta chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho, national fraternity. The installation will take place early next fall.

Building. Faculty, led by President Kerr and Dr. Clark are passing through senior file.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Coach Paul Schissler will have his hands full when he takes hold of the football team September 15. A new system of offense and a different method of defense in many particulars must be "put over" in the short space of two weeks, because on October 3 the Beavers tangle with Whitman at Pendleton.

Three lettermen—Scott, Locey, and Tansey—are lost by graduation. "Luke" Gill has had his three years. Boyken and Day are reported ineligible because of scholastic difficulties. Coach Henderson of U. S. C. is said to be figuring on protesting Ben Carpenter. Captain-elect Rich hasn't been in college since Christmas, has married, and declares he isn't returning this fall. Paul Snider quit college at the end of the first quarter and is now working at Toledo. Hope is held out that he will be counted among those present September 15, however.

Loss of these 8 or 9 experienced men is a handicap, especially for the early season games.

The silver lining to the cloud is found in a few promising youngsters coming up from the freshman team. Schulmerich, Dixon, Dickinson, Denman, Leibe, Dean, Craig, Ireland, and Pepoon look especially good. Wernmark, Edwards, Ward, Matson and three or four others are good enough to keep everybody hustling.

Lack of a tried catcher, not enough good pitching, a hitting slump, and inexperience combined to pull the conference baseball championship from the Beaver's grasping fingers.

Of the 16 players who won letters 12 were sophomores or playing their first year on the varsity.

At home the team had been hitting fiercely and often, Faurie had come along in good shape behind the bat, Young and Coleman had demonstrated real pitching ability. Everything looked good for a championship. Just before leaving on the northern trip, however, Harley Hughes, regular second baseman, broke an ankle, and Faurie split the thumb on his throwing hand. Those accidents didn't help. Tebb and Wagner were hit hard, and Young and Coleman couldn't carry the burden of seven games in almost eight days. Hitting fell off and miscues were frequent. Only one game won on the road trip. Exit championship.

Lack of field men held down the Aggie track scores this spring. An analysis of the outcome of meets shows points won as follows:

Oregon dual:
Track events—48
Field events—35
Washington dual:
Track events—36
Field events—14
Conference meet:
Track events—22
Field events—5

Total points scored, 160. Total field points, 54. Track points, 106.

Of the 12 men who won track letters 8 competed only in track events and six of these eight were 880-yard men and up.

YEAR OF VARSITY ATHLETICS WITH UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Major Sports

Football—Won. Score 6-0.
Basketball—Broke even. Won two, lost two.
Wrestling—Clean sweep, both meets.
Baseball—Won three, lost one.
Track—Won dual meet, 83 to 48.

Minor Sports

Cross Country—Won. Scoring 32 points to 58.
(Low score wins.)
Swimming—Won two dual meets.
Tennis—Won two dual meets.

Freshman Major Sport Results

Football—Won. Score 3 to 0.
Basketball—Lost three, won one.
Track—Won relay meet, lost dual meet.
Baseball—Won three, lost one.

Baseball Nine Finishes Third

The Beaver baseball nine finished the season in third place in the northwest conference pennant scramble. The championship went to U. S. C., the result being in doubt until the very end of the season.

Coach Coleman's tossers left Corvallis May 22 at the top of the heap with 10 won and 3 lost. Five defeats, one tie, and one victory—bye-bye championship.

In looking over the season's record the Beavers, it will be found, broke even with Washington and Idaho; lost 2, tied one, and won one from W. S. C.; took 2 from Whitman; gobbled 3 out of 4 with Oregon; lost one to Gonzaga.

The 1924 Football Schedule

October 3—Whitman at Pendleton.
October 11—Multnomah at Corvallis.
October 18—U. of Southern Cal. at Portland.
October 25—Washington at Seattle.
October 31—Idaho at Corvallis.
November 7—W. S. C. at Pullman.
November 15—Open.
November 22—Oregon at Corvallis.
November 27—Nebraska at Lincoln.

Varsity Track Men Make Good Record

The 1924 varsity track season ended with a 83-48 victory over Oregon, a 81-50 defeat at the hands of Washington and a tie with Stanford for third place in the coast conference meet at Eugene May 30.

Five out of 8 firsts at the Washington relays, first in the 4-mile relay at the Kansas relays and second in that event at the Drake relays complete the year's record.

First class sprinters, pole vaulters, and jumpers are scarce on the Aggie campus—in fact they aren't here.

The dope bucket spilled with a splash when "Bill" Hayward's athletes captured the conference track meet. It all happened when Spearow and Rosenberg captured 16 points in the broad jump and the pole vault. Of Oregon's 37 points 23 were scored in those two events and the high jump.

A baby boy, John Patrick, arrived at the home of Captain and Mrs. Adlai E. Young, at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, on March 17. Mrs. Young was formerly Valda Smith who taught in the chemistry department at O. A. C.

"Look pleasant please," said the photographer at his (more or less) fair sitter. Click! "It's all over, ma'am. You may resume your natural expression."

One who circulates truth is as great as the discoverer of it.

What has become of the old-fashioned business man whose evenings were spent "on the books?"

BEAVER ATHLETES ARE TO ENTER CONTESTS FOR OLYMPIC TITLES

The Orange and Black of the Oregon Aggies will be represented in the coming Olympic contests.

Robin Reed won a place on the wrestling team at 135 pounds, defeating all his opponents.

Julian Burroughs is reported to have won fourth in diving from the 10-foot board in the tryouts recently—which means a place on the swimming team.

Ray Dodge will compete in the tryouts at Boston in the 880-yard run. He should land a place on the team.

No other college on the coast has contributed so many Olympic contenders.

Speaking of Robin Reed's performances a New York paper says:

"Robin Reed of Oregon Agricultural College, who holds the distinction of having won five bouts of the sectional Olympic tryouts, proved himself one of the finest and most finished grapplers in the Olympic wrestling tournament, which was finished at Madison Square Garden last night. He scored decisive falls in all three of his afternoon bouts after winning with falls in both of his bouts on Tuesday evening in the 135 pound class.

"The Oregon athlete, who is twenty-three years old, has been the sensation of the big meet and has amazed coaches and brother grapplers with his agility, knowledge of holds and utter contempt for his opponent's prowess.

"In all of his five bouts up to yesterday afternoon he had his man on the floor within a minute, and in the final bout of the matinee show he created a record of the tournament by throwing L. W. Bringhame of Oklahoma A. & M. college in 54 seconds."

Eva Schultz, an O. A. C. student, was sent to the swimming tryouts by the Portland natatorium.

Life Membership Offered for O. A. C. Creed

One of the considerations of the annual business was the matter of an O. A. C. Creed. Typical of his life-long devotion to the College and her alumni, Professor Frederick L. Berchtold submitted the following for approval:

O. A. C. CREED

I believe in my Alma Mater—enthroned on the hill, guarded by Mary's Mount—the Nurse of kindly sentiment, the Guide of ambitious youth, the Friend of the people, teaching true democracy, emphasizing the dignity of labor, the dissemination of useful knowledge, the importance of sustained effort, and the priceless worth of gracious tolerance and consecrated friendships; aglow with everything that makes for the advancement of the State and Nation, my own, my cherished college, glorious O. A. C.

Discussion indicated that this composition did not quite meet the wishes of the Association. A motion was passed providing for the award of a Life Membership in the Alumni Association to the person submitting a Creed which is adopted. Contributions turned in from time to time will be printed in the Alumnus.

Last Issue Until September

This issue of the Alumnus is the last for the 1923-24 alumni year. The next issue will be off the press this fall, about September 20. A special reunion and commencement number has been made of this issue which will be sent to all 1924 graduates and members of the special reunion classes.

DEAN MILAM ADDS A FEW MORE HUNDREDS OF MILES TO TRAVELS

Dean Ava B. Milam of the School of Home Economics no sooner arrives on the campus than she leaves for the National Home Economics Association meeting which convenes in Buffalo, New York, June 30 to July 4. She has been kept constantly busy meeting speaking engagements since her return in May but expects to spend the greater part of the summer in writing. Her tour through China, the Philippines, Korea, and Japan has given her a wealth of material on the home life of the Chinese people and made possible the meeting of the leading educators of China who are interested in giving the women of China a correct vision of home making.

Dean Ava B. Milam, as she left for New York, June, 1924

Sigma Pi is Granted Local

Sigma Pi installed Gamma Sigma Kappa, local fraternity, as its Omega chapter on the O. A. C. campus, on May 9 and 10, making the twenty-first national men's fraternity here. It is the twenty-fourth chapter of Sigma Pi, the third on the Pacific coast.

Installation ceremonies were followed by a banquet and the installation formal. Open house was held at the chapter house on Sunday.

Members of the installing team were Dr. E. P. Cook of the University of California, G. W. Latimer of the University of Utah, Vernon Lynn of the Iowa State University.

Gamma Sigma Kappa was organized as the Orion club in 1920 and recognized as a local in 1921. Sigma Phi was organized at Vincennes University, Indiana, in 1897.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA INSTALLED MAKES 12TH WOMEN'S NATIONAL

Kappa Kappa Gamma installed its fifty-first chapter on the O. A. C. campus on June 7, when Gamma Iota, local sorority, after seven years of petitioning, became Gamma Mu chapter. This is the twelfth women's national at O. A. C.

More than 100 persons, representing chapters at the University of Oregon, University of Washington and Whitman College, were present for the installation ceremonies. Miss Marie Leghorn of Seattle, national registrar, was the official installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Herbert S. McDuffy of the Portland chapter of alumnae, Mrs. Eric Allen of the Eugene alumnae chapter, Mrs. W. W. Canby of Grants Pass, former national president, and Mrs. Edgar Piper of Portland, former national registrar.

Miss Helen Lee Davis, acting head of home economics this year, and a Kappa from Vassar, has been faculty adviser for the group.

The coming of Kappa Kappa Gamma is considered another mark of recognition of the fine type of young womanhood on the O. A. C. campus. Kappa Kappa Gamma was founded at Monmouth, Illinois, in October, 1870, and is very exacting in its requirements for chapter grants.

A banquet was served in Margaret Snell hall following the installation ceremonies and the chapter attended the baccalaureate services in a body on Sunday morning.

A tea and reception was given by Mrs. M. E. Smith, Kappa of Syracuse University, on Sunday afternoon.

Charles F. McKnight, '98, of Marshfield, Oregon, new member of the Board of Directors of the O. A. C. Alumni Association, elected at the annual business meeting to serve five years. Mr. McKnight, a well-known attorney of Oregon, has always taken an active interest in alumni affairs and in 1913 served as president of the Association. He is now president of the Coos Bay O. A. C. Club.

Here for Reunions:

D. G. Thayer, Corvallis, Oregon.
 Floyd E. Rowland, Shedd, Oregon.
 John J. Clark, EE, of Warland, Montana, pauses long enough to scatter a few flowers to the living and, incidentally, sends along his life membership payment.

"I wish to commend those who have officered and directed the affairs of the Association for the last few years. The business has been well-handled and the Association has been advanced to an enviable position of power for furthering the prestige of our Alma Mater and assisting in the advancement of the cause of education throughout the state.

"I have had no share in all of this, though I recognize that the responsibility rested on me as much as on any individual alumnus. However, I am with you and stand ready to do what I can either toward perfecting the association or toward a greater and better O. A. C."

Here for Reunions:

T. J. Starker, Corvallis, Oregon.
 Beulah, Gilkey, Corvallis, Oregon.
 Jay M. Reynolds, Corvallis, Oregon.
 L. B. Howey, Federated Malay States.
 Ruth Thayer, Rainier, Oregon.

Leland Barton Howey, C, is another alumnus from the Orient to pay his respects to the "little ol' town" of Corvallis, recently. Howey has been in foreign lands since his graduation—six years in the constabulary in the Philippines, four in Java with the Standard Oil company of New York, and the last three with the same firm at Kuala Lumpur, Federated Malay States. His work is chiefly that of organization and administration and he is in the States now on a six months leave. His wife will be remembered as Marguerite Carley, ex-'18, HE.

Life in the Orient rather appeals to Mr. Howey and he is afraid that until he reaches the millionaire stage he won't be contented to live in this country where he will have to forego the luxury of four house servants and two gardeners all for the sum of $62 a month.

Kuala Lumpur, he says, is a city of 80,000 population in the rubber district. The climate there is very monotonous, temperature varying only from 75 to 90 degrees.

 man in Portland. His residence is 856 Commercial street.

Bernhard Olsen, EE, has been appointed manager of the Spokane office of the General Electric company. Following graduation he worked for a year in the engineering department of the company's Portland office, and in the fall of 1912 was transferred to the Spokane office as sales agent. In May of this year he was made manager of that office.

Jennie M. Bossen, C, now Mrs. A. W. Cope, school superintendent of Curry county, was renominated on the Republican ticket at the primary last month.
 "Her renomination was based upon her record in office, which has been highly successful."

Helen Moore, C, informs us of her safe arrival in Honolulu on May 20 where she will spend the summer. For the past two years Miss Moore has been secretary of the School of Commerce at O. A. C.

She plans to return to the States in the fall unless she finds the attractions of Honolulu too much for her. Her address is care of the Van Hamm Young company, Ltd.

Vincent M. Patterson, A, is working for the Congregational Sunday School extension society at Vaughn, Washington, this summer.

Sidney C. Dean, CE, is now working for the Steel-form Contracting company, 935 Henry building, Seattle, Washington. He says, "My work takes me to Portland quite often and I expect to make regular trips on to Corvallis as soon as football season opens. It looks like a good year ahead for O. A. C."

Marguerite Shirley, C, writes of a most successful year of teaching at Montesano, Washington, where she expects to be again next year. She promises that we shall have one of the high school boys from Montesano enter O. A. C.

Lucile Caswell, C, now Mrs. A. G. Davids, has moved to 2220-a Third street, Ocean Park, California.

Leslie Curtis Davis, A, who completed work for his degree last December is now on his way to Arpque, Peru, where he will become assistant trainmaster on the Peruvian Central railroad. This road is famous for the marvelous engineering skill shown in its construction. The Peruvian railroad has 100 tunnels which lead from the warmth of the tropics over the Andes to the land of perpetual snow.

How Do You Account For It?

Someone took the trouble to check up on the alumni of the college faculty who were out at the annual meeting of the Association this year. Would anyone believe that only 15 of the possible 109 were there? And it was their own alma mater that considered them trained and loyal enough for a place on her staff. Can it be that these alumni scorn the work and plans which seek only to further the advancement of O. A. C. whence they receive their bread and butter? It is funny, isn't it?

It costs about a dollar a head to get people out for a spontaneous popular demonstration.

"Culture is a by-product of reading, of study, and of fine associations."

TEN YEAR REUNION OF 14'ERS

Breakfast. This breakfast was an exact duplicate of the one given by our class at our commencement, except in the number seated.

Dr. Louis Gambee, now a surgeon and physician of Portland, introduced Henry Odeen (all the way from California) as toastmaster. He called for speeches from all present and asked each to tell of his or her experiences since 1914. Greetings were read from some members who could not be present. The program as also interspersed with college songs. A loving tribute was paid to those of the class who have died during the past 10 years.

After the program a business meeting was held and it was decided to hold our reunions every five years hereafter—the next in 1929. Orville Reeves was selected as manager for the next reunion. A motion was passed to the effect that at the next reunion the bachelors of the class shall pay for the Class Breakfast. After a hearty vote of thanks to Dr. Gambee for his splendid work in managing this reunion, the meeting adjourned.

Those present are listed under the 1914 class notes in the back of the magazine.

Mother's Day on Campus, May 10. (1) Song Festival on lower campus. (2) Mother's Day Banquet. (3) Dance Carnival.
