IFYE Delegates To Talk at Convo

By CARON BEARD
Barometer Reporter

Three of last year's International Farm Youth Exchange delegates will speak tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the IFYE Convocation sponsored by the Campus 4-H Club in the Home Economics auditorium, Glenn Eggers '60; Jeff Jackets '58, Monmouth; and Fern Mathey, newly-appointed county extension agent for Linn county, are last year's delegates.

Eggers spent last spring and summer living with farm families in England and Wales. He said that the language was difficult to understand at first due to the different phrase and word usage. Most of the people in Wales speak Welsh.

"Farms average about 30 acres in England with hedgerows acting as fences between most of the fields. Due to the large number of people and the small amount of farm land, England only produces about 50 per cent of her needs, so she must import farm goods from other countries to feed her population," Eggers said.

Miss Mathey, a delegate from Wisconsin, returned from Israel last December after spending six months with host families there. She said, "Israel, which is less than one-tenth the size of Oregon, is a land of extreme contrast with rugged mountains in the north and hot deserts in the south."

Miss Mathey is a graduate of Stout State College, Menomonie, Wisconsin. She started work May 1 as Linn county extension agent in Albany.

Jackets, who returned from the Dominican Republic last week, will tell of his experiences there. Dominican Republic, located on the island of Hispaniola, is about 1/5 the size of Oregon. Christopher Columbus first landed on this island and the first settlement in the New World was established there.

Contrast Evident
Jackets said in his letters from the Dominican Republic that the contrast between the old and the new within the country, and even within a farm is evident. He said that one field might have several tractors and in the next people may be seen weeding on hands and knees.

In his last letter he wrote, "The people may do things a little differently than we do; some of them may be a little darker skinned than we are, and they speak a different language, but their basic desires are one and the same."

Jackets is a 1958 graduate of Oregon State College.
Oregon Delegates
Oregon's IFYE delegates for this year are Caron Beard '59, IFYE to New Zealand; Myra McBride '59, IFYE to Japan; and Bob Nicholas '59, from the University, IFYE to Nicaragua. They will be introduced at the convo.

IFC Sing Won By Sigma Chi; SPE's Second

Sigma Chi won the first place trophy in the Interfraternity Sing for the second straight year Saturday night. Under the leadership of Brian Busch '62, the Sigma Chi's sang "Lorena" by Robert Shaw and "You'll Never Walk Alone" by Rogers and Hammerstein from "Carousel."

Sigma Phi Epsilon placed second with "The Student Marching Song" by Sigmond Romberg and the old Duke Ellington favorite "Mood Indigo." Placing third, Phi Gamma Delta sang "Seeing Nelly Home" by Francis Kyle and Jay Fletcher, and "Rock-a-My Soul" which was arranged by R. Lee Gilliam.

Other finalists for the coveted awards were Acacia, Beta Theta Pi, and Delta Upsilon.
At intermission in the program, Miss OSC, Diane Myers '61, was crowned by last year's queen Sue Hall '59. Blue Key, senior men's honorary, publicly tapped its nine initiates for the year 1959-60.

Two novelty numbers were presented by the Chi Phi quartet the "Four-Fifths." A second novelty group presented were the Sigma Kappa and the Kappa Delta Rho. Four sororities were chosen earlier in the term to represent the Panhellenic Council. Sororities chosen were Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Xi Delta, Kappa Alpha Phi, and Alpha Omicron Pi.

Master of ceremonies for the Sing was Don Essig '60.
Graduating seniors in Pharmacy and their wives and husbands will be honored Tuesday at a banquet sponsored by E. R. Squibb and Co., pharmaceutical manufacturers, according to Dr. L. A. Scicchetti, associate professor of pharmacognosy.

Leslie Bell, president of the graduating senior pharmaceutical students, will be master of ceremonies at the banquet, which is to be held at 6 p.m. in the Memorial Union Tearoom.
The Squibbs company will be represented by J. L. Terrill, Seattle regional sales manager, who will give an address on future opportunities in pharmacy. Local medical service representatives will also be present.

The school of pharmacy is planning other events for the near future, including the giving of annual awards May 12 at a combined banquet in the Benton Hotel.
A seminar will be presented May 13 to members of the Linn-Benton Pharmaceutical Assn., and on May 25 to the Portland Retail Druggists Assn. On May 17 the annual All-Pharmacy Picnic will be held in Avery Park.

Yar Ilix Yar Takes Yearly IDC Award
A trophy for the outstanding men's dormitory living group was presented to Yar Ilix Yar Saturday night at the Interdom Council-Cathorn Hall Mothers Week-end banquet. An estimated 500 persons attended the banquet held in the Weatherford cafeteria.

Interdom Council presented the trophy to the living group which participated in intramural sports and campus activities while maintaining good academic standing.

All applicants who are under a 2.30 accumulative GPA must also turn in a list of grades for each term in college.
The newly rally squad will assume their duties next fall term. Female rally squad members were selected by the rally committee last week. They are Judy Query, Jan Phillips, Ginny Evans, Gerri Rose, Sally Eldon, and Kathy Booth.

Bodies Found In Columbia

A second body of the Kenneth R. Martin family of five who have been missing from their Portland home since December 7 of last year, was found in the Columbia river yesterday.

The decomposed body of 13-year-old Virginia Martin was found about 20 miles below the dam above Bonneville Dam. Her younger sister, 11-year-old Sue, was found floating in the river Sunday about 20 miles below the dam.

An intensified search is to get underway today about four miles east of Cascade Locks in one of the sloughs of the Columbia river. Skamania county authorities in Washington are going to again search the Wind, Big White Salmon and Little White Salmon rivers for any trace of the Martins' 1954 auto.

Still missing are Kenneth R. Martin, 54-year-old service manager for a Portland electrical firm, his wife Barbara Jean, and their oldest daughter, Barbara, 14.
Identification of the bodies of Virginia and Sue was made by the family dentist, Dr. E. A. Waterman of Portland, through dental records he had found of the girls. The number of fillings on the same surface of the same teeth matched his charts perfectly in both cases, he said.

Grade Apportionment Interesting

A glimpse at the college's official analysis of academic grade apportionment at Oregon State for last winter term shows some interesting facts. A total of 40,866 grades were given students for course work completed during winter term. Out of this number, 18 percent of the grades given were A's, 34 percent were B's, 38 percent were C's, 7 percent were D's, and 1 percent F's.

Assuming that a C grade is to be considered average, 52 percent of the grades given during winter term were better than average. Thirty-eight percent of the grades given were average and eight percent were below average.

In some departments, we find that the type of student enrolled is far above the institutional average grade-wise. Here are some of the departments with an unusually high total percentage of A's and B's:

Business Education (29 grades), 93 percent; Music (728 grades), 91 percent; Romance Languages (279 grades), 85 percent; Landscape Architecture (63 grades), 84 percent; Home Economics Education (48 grades), 82 percent; and Architecture and Art (1189 grades), 78 percent.

These high percentages of A's and B's can indicate several things. Perhaps the students enrolled in those courses are mostly above average in ability. Then perhaps these are the courses that grade-hunters ought to prey upon more. Considering the fact that some departments gave barely over 30 percent A and B grades, it would seem that "birds of a feather flock together" — academically speaking. Then, again, maybe there are some sources in which every-

PREVIEWS and REVIEWS

By ROGER WIDNESS

After last weekend, all family obligations of the Oregon State student are met, but what a battle some have had in meeting them. One would usually picture Dad, in his weekend with "the boys", as being the rabble rousing of the parents. Roll call at the local pub last weekend, however, makes one wonder if MOM isn't the rowdiest of the parents — and on a weekend with "the kids".

The favorite student hangout on Philomath Road was so packed with mothers, sons, and daughters Saturday night that one had extreme difficulty lifting his hand high enough to scratch his ear.

Another mother gained a clear picture of college life Saturday when she accompanied her daughter into one of the political science courses. She found the lecture so stimulating that she fell asleep. (Undoubtedly the prof will claim that it was "the morning after" that did it.)

Looks as though the IFC Judiciary Committee will have an interesting case to consider in the near future. The incident in question is a brawl that took place several weeks ago between an undetermined number of Sigma Nu men and an undetermined number of men from Reed Lodge. The case is loaded with interesting aspects... but the IFC Committee will probably be lucky enough to escape all the intricacies of the situation.

Steve Reed at the O Club needs someone to tend his flock of lawn chairs on the Memorial Union veranda. Steve has been kind enough to place the chairs there for students to relax in, but some individuals like the chairs so much they've walked off with five of them to date. If the chairs continue to disappear, OSC students will probably be squatting on bare cement when enjoying their refreshments.

We've heard many comments lately concerning the beautiful condition that our campus is in this year. It's typically quite green this time of the year, but the flowers that the college landscape crews have planted at the corners of the M.U. quad and other locations on campus have certainly brightened up the landscape. Both visitors and students are commenting upon the unusual beauty of this year's spring scene on campus.

'Imitation' Gives Fans Ringside Table At Famous Nightspot

A rare opportunity for film fans throughout the world to "attend" Frank Sinatra's famed Moulin Rouge in Hollywood without traveling to the film capital is afforded in Universal-International's "Imitation of Life," starring Lana Turner, John Gavin, Sandra Dee, Susan Kohner, Robert Alda and Dan O'Herlihy. The picture is now playing at the Whiteside theatre.

In a musical sequence featuring Russ Kohner, Producer Ross Hunter arranged with the famous Hollywood night club to photograph one of its spectacular production numbers exactly as it was presented nightly at the world famous entertainment mecca. The only change was the presence of Susan as one of the Moulin Rouge show girls.

The number, titled "Rockin' Chair Blues," was featured in the Don Arden revue, "Pariscope." The setting by Harvey Berthe and the setting by Harvey Berthe answer to our needs.

"Imitation of Life" is a modernized version of Fannie Hurst's best-selling novel. The picture is in color.

Look, Ma, No Hands... It's a Pushbutton Tractor

As the tractor rolled out of the warehouse, reporters and salesmen watching it scratched their heads. The tractor had no driver. But it was controlled — by an engineer walking about 15 feet behind it with a small blue radio set in his hands.

The driverless tractor, developed by Jim Pichon of the University of Nebraska, is seen as a step toward eventual pushbutton farming.

But even Pichon is quick to point out that today's farmer isn't likely to see the day when he can sit back in his easy chair and farm by remote control while watching the operation on closed-circuit television.

Nevertheless, it's in the realm of possibility. Pichon's radio-operated tractor is a standard production model Oliver tractor with a radio receiver under the seat. The box is hooked up to the all-hydraulic control system on the tractor and the operator has only to push two little red buttons.

By flicking a button one way, the operator can start the tractor. He can shift gears, engage or disengage the clutch and control the speed with other button controls.

He can steer right and left, use the brake and raise or lower the cultivator or plow. Ray Nash, an engineer who is working with Pichon in an effort to perfect the automatic farmer, explained the radio set at a convention.

The set has an 11-meter band that transmits high frequency signals on eight control channels and actually is very similar to a remote-control garage door opening system.

It operates on one of two special "citizens band" frequencies set aside by the Federal Communications Commission and only a permit is needed to operate it.

US-India Confab Opens

India's Economic Struggle Compared To Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Monday India's economic struggle may be more important to the Free World than the Berlin crisis.

Nixon delivered the opening address to a two-day conference of U. S. and Indian leaders who advocated vast, long-term American loans and other aid to India.

All the speakers emphasized that in India, whose population is greater than Africa and Latin America combined, the world will see perhaps a conclusive answer to the question of whether underdeveloped nations can achieve economic progress without abandoning freedom.

U. S. Welcomes Opportunity Endorsing this theme, Nixon said, "What happens to India insofar as its economic progress is concerned could be as important as more important than the consequences of the negotiations on Berlin."

The vice president said the U.S. welcomes the opportunity to help India "help prove to the world that it is possible to have economic progress with freedom."

However, he added, "I would not like to rest the case on simply the negative issue of how to defeat Communism."

"If there were no Communism and no Communist threat to people like those of India there would still be poverty, disease and need. Our primary interest must be the

Steelworkers Set For Talks With Industry

NEW YORK (UPI) — Top officials of the United Steelworkers of America today briefed the union's bargaining teams which will meet separately this week with 12 top steel companies.

Approximately 350 steelworkers, members of the locals representing each company's employees, met behind closed doors at the Hotel Roosevelt to hear the union's contract demands spelled out.

The union bargaining teams will kick off 1959 wage talks Tuesday with U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel and Kaiser Steel. On Wednesday, separate talks will begin with eight other major companies.

At these meetings, the teams will present the union's formal demands to the individual companies and will hear the position the industry will take in the forthcoming negotiations.

Contract Expiry June 30 Upon completion of these preliminary talks, possibly in a week or so, actual give-and-take bargaining on a new contract for 500,000 steelworkers will get underway between four-man negotiating teams representing management and labor. The current three-year contract expires at midnight June 30.

The joint bargaining talks follow a pattern established in 1956, when the industry bargained collectively for the first time.

Truman Calls For Repeal Of 'Third Term' Restriction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman today called for repeal of the ban on a presidential third term as a "bad constitutional amendment. He said it was devised to "get Roosevelt" and is now hamstringing President Eisenhower.

Truman said the ban was "a bill of goods" sold to the country by "Roosevelt haters."

Truman told a Senate judiciary subcommittee that he has "no personal axe to grind" in the hearings on repeal of the 22nd Amendment adopted after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt who was elected four times.

The amendment was initiated by the Republican-controlled 80th

Cheers 'n Jeers

OSC Friendliness To the Editor: Thanks guys and gals for being such wonderful hosts while your PTA parents were conventioning on the campus, April 27 through 30.

Time after time this comment was heard "I didn't know where to go but a passing college student asked if he could help me. Aren't they friendly?"

All 1200 delegates left with a "good" feeling toward Oregon State and were thrilled with the music department band and chorus, the coliseum and Memorial Union.

Your friendliness contributed much to the overwhelming success of the convention.

Churchill On 'Last' Visit To America

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill, 84, left Monday for a sentimental visit with President Eisenhower in the White House, a trip that could be his last visit to the United States.

The visit, at the invitation of the President, was pegged a "social call" but British political sources hoped the sharp-minded political veteran would reassure Eisenhower on British East-West policies.

Churchill is kept closely informed on the aims and policies of the Macmillan government and world affairs are bound to come into even the friendliest talks at the White House.

There have been some fears that Britain planned major changes in its cold war approach to the Russians but British diplomats insist there is no apprehension in mind although they believe concessions to Russia will bring concessions.

Churchill, who had to turn down an invitation from Eisenhower last year because of illness, skipped a political rally last week and spent Sunday resting at his country home, Chartwell, to conserve his energies for the trip.

Churchill was making his first trip to the United States since June, 1954, was carrying with him a box of his favorite cigars.

Churchill will spend three days at the White House

Air Defense Command Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Joint Chiefs of Staff will consider a new plan next week for streamlining the continental air defenses and granting more authority to the air defense commander.

Many military men have complained that the defense reorganization plan put into effect early this year did not explicitly spell out the authority of the head of the North American Air Defense Command over the air, land and sea forces assigned to continental defense.

Gen. Earl E. Partridge, air defense commander, hoped to eliminate the doubt over his authority and to unify further the force commands prior to his retirement next July 1.

President Eisenhower is expected to announce shortly that Partridge will be succeeded by Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, now commander of the Pacific air forces.

THE MANY LOVES OF THORWALD DOCKSTADER

When Thorwald Dockstader—sophomore, epicure, and sportsman—first took up smoking, he did not simply choose the first brand of cigarettes that came to hand. He did what any sportsman, epicure, and sportsman would do: he sampled several brands and then picked the mildest, tastiest, pleasiest of all—Philip Morris, of course!

Similarly, when Thorwald took up girls, he did not simply select the first one who came along. He sampled. First he took out an English literature major named Elizabeth Barrett Grist, a wisp of a girl with luminous eyes and a soul that shimmered with a pale, unearthly beauty. Trippingly, trippingly, she walked with Thorwald upon the beach and sat with him behind a windward dune and listened to a sea shell and sighed sweetly and took out a little gold pencil and a little morocco notebook and wrote a little poem:

I will lie upon the shore, I will be a dreamer, I will feel the sea once more Pounding on my femur.

Thorwald's second date was with a physical education major named Peaches Glendower, a broth of a girl with a ready smile and a size 18 neck. She took Thorwald down to the cinder track where they jogged around 50 times to open the pores. Then they played four games of squash, six sets of tennis, 36 holes of golf, nine innings of one old cat six chukkers of lacrosse, and a mile and a quarter of leap frog. Then they went ten rounds with eight-ounce gloves and then they had heaping bowls of bran and whey and exchanged a manly handshake and went home to their respective whirlpool baths.

Thorwald's final date was with a golden-haired, creamy-browed, green-eyed, red-lipped, full-calved girl named Totsi Sigafoss. Totsi was not majoring in anything. As she often said, "Gee whillikers, what's college for anyhow—to fill your head full of icky old facts, or to discover the shining essence that is YOU?"

Totsi started the evening with Thorwald at a luxurious restaurant where she consumed her own weight in Cornish rock hen. From there they went to a de luxe movie palace where Totsi had popcorn with butter. Then she had a bag of chocolate covered raisins—also with butter. Then they went to a costly ballroom and cha-cha'd till dawn, tipping the band every eight bars. Then they went to a Chinese restaurant where Totsi, unable to decipher the large and baffling menu, found a simple way out of her dilemma: she ordered one of everything. Then Thorwald took her to the women's dorm, boosted her in the window, and went downtown to wait for the employment office to open.

While waiting, Thorwald thought over all of his girls and came to a sensible decision. "I think," he said to himself, "that I will stick with Philip Morris. I am not rich enough for girls."

Anybody is rich enough for Philip Morris—and for Philip Morris's brother cigarette, Riter-Tip Marlboro, the cigarette with better "makin's". The Rator's Ane, the Riter Riter, the price is right.

Umpires, Beavers Blast "Big Four" Huskies Off Coleman Field

Beavers in First Spot As ND Race Tightens

Two big innings in which Oregon State College tallied 11 runs, boosted the Beavers to an easy 13-4 triumph over the University of Washington Huskies Monday afternoon on Coleman field, and put the Beavers in a tie for the Northern Division lead.

Dampened by scattered showers the game was an interesting one for the OSC home crowd. Base umpire John Jacoby thumbed out the entire Huskie bench and two coaches during a seventh inning rhabarb. As a result, Washington finished the tilt with a bare nine-man minimum.

Beavers Never Lose Lead
OSC jumped off to an early one-run lead in the first inning of the game was confronted with the entire Huskie bench, coaching staff and playing team. All but the nine on the field were given the boot by the man in blue. It all started when third baseman Gary Snyder was tossed out for too vociferously protesting a call made by Jacoby.

In the end, the only player left on the Washington bench was the batboy — and he was supplied by Oregon State.

The win was Moore's third against one loss for the season. Both clubs collide again today at 3 p.m. on Coleman field.

Then in the second, the Beavers started to work in earnest. Piling three hits, including a two-run double by co-captain Kim Bradshaw, two bases on balls, a hit batsman and another of the five Huskies errors, six Beavers dented the plate.

Washington got into the scoring column in the fourth on a triple by Don Daniels and a throwing error by OSC shortstop, Carlo Petroni.

Five Runs In Sixth
Five more Beaver runs were tallied in the sixth frame. Two more hits, including a three-run single by second baseman Gary Baker, three bases on balls and another hit batsman aided in the scoring.

In the bottom of the sixth, the Huskies bounced back with George Pitt, first baseman, pounding out a two-run double off the southpaw slants of Gary Moore, star Beaver hurler.

Oregon State picked up one more in the seventh on a solid double by catcher Dan Luby, an infield out and a single by Bradshaw.

Pitt lofted a 360-foot bases-empty home run in the Husky eighth to round out the scoring for the afternoon.

Ortiz is recovering from cut eyes suffered in his winning fight over Len Matthews at Philadelphia last week.

Thornton managed to gain time on Beaver errors, but in a losing cause, as the Beavers knocked Washington out of first place in the Northern Division standings.

Rooks Blank Frosh in Win

The Oregon State College Rook tennis team won their tenth straight victory this year by cleaning the Oregon Frosh 7-0 last Saturday at Eugene. The Rook netters have proved to be the most powerful freshman team at OSC in many years.

The whole team will be top notch contenders for varsity positions next year. The unbeatable Rooks have only two more matches this year. One will be held today against Springfield High School, and the following Saturday Lower Columbia Junior College will be on the courts. The two events will be on the OSC courts.

Coach Don Megale, assistant professor of physical education, disclosed the lineup used this season and background of some players.

The outstanding netters of the Rook team are:
1. Gordon Brynildsen — the champion of the Idaho State singles and is undefeated with ten victories at Oregon State. He is one of the most promising tennis players ever to enroll at Oregon State.
2. Bob Semon — the state of Oregon's high school singles champion of 1958, and presently holding a 9-1 record at OSC. He resides in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

National Record Set by Stenlund

Gary Stenlund of the Oregon State Rooks heaved the javelin 228 feet 2 inches for a new national freshman record as the Beavers won the Vancouver Relays championship Saturday in Vancouver, B.C.

Oregon State scored 89 points to finish far ahead of second place Eastern Washington which had 54. The Oregon Frosh took third with 45 followed by the Washington Frosh with 39, University of British Columbia 39, and Washington College of Education 36.

Stenlund's Toss Second in Meet
Stenlund's long javelin throw topped the national freshman record of 222 feet 7 inches by over five feet. Richard Heeber of Arizona State set the old record in 1952. Despite his record-breaking heave, Stenlund finished second to John Fromm of the Seattle Olympic Club who tossed the spear 236 feet 9 inches.

Wayne Moss provided the Beavers' only first when he topped the field in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 4 inches.

The victorious Beavers scored as follows:
Singles:
1. Paul Skvarna, OSC, def. Bruce Dingler, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.
2. Denny Todd, OSC, def. Larry Ottis, 4-6, 7-5, 6-1.
