Hobart Family Farm Purchase History:

The farm was originally purchased by Josiah Wellington Hobart from Warren and Ofa Gray for the sum of $2,500 which also included approximately 49 acres adjoining land. The sale was recorded on the 9th day of February, 1905 in Clackamas County. (A promissory note dated March 17, 1903, may have been the original transaction date of the farm purchase.)

Josiah's oldest son, Edwin, purchased the 60 acre parcel from his parents J.W. and Mary (Hadley) Hobart in October, 1906, for the sum of $1,500.

In 1950, Edwin and Carrie (Fox) Hobart sold the farm to their youngest son and his wife, Wilbur Eugene & Mabel (Piuser) Hobart for the sum of $15,000. The mortgage was satisfied in July, 1966.

Wilbur E. Hobart died November 19, 1979 leaving the farm to his wife Mabel. On January 4, 2005, Mabel F. Hobart passed away. The farm is inherited by their children: Irene E. Crowley, Lloyd D. Hobart, Roxie E. Hobart, and Karen A. Dodds.

HOBART FAMILY HISTORY

Josiah W. Hobart

Josiah Wellington Hobart, youngest son of Anson and Jane (Lincoln) Hobart, was born in Hancock County, Illinois, September 14, 1849.

Josiah was four years old when he arrived in the Silverton country by covered wagon in 1853. His folks moved from Hancock County, Illinois. His mother, Jane (Lincoln) Hobart died from spotted fever near Ladd Canyon in the Grande Ronde valley of eastern Oregon on the journey to the Willamette Valley. His father, Anson Hobart, continued with the family to a deserted homestead up the Abiqua to Powers Creek in the Silverton area. His father later married Lorraine Horrell. After a few years Anson bought a 600-acre ranch near Silverton where Josiah and his brother Scott helped run the ranch which was stocked well with sheep.

After receiving his primary education, Josiah went to school at Belle Passi with his older brother, Scott. Later the family lived for a couple years in south Portland, where Scott and Josiah finished their education. After finishing school, both taught school for a number of years.

He married Mary Ann Hadley in Dallas, Oregon, on October 5, 1875. Mary was a pioneer school teacher in the Willamette Valley. They had four sons: Edwin (born September 12, 1876); Harry (born January 16, 1878); Alfonso (born May 27, 1880) and Harvey (born May 20, 1883). At the turn of the century, Josiah tried his hand at politics and became Assessor of Marion County. His son, Edwin was deputy assessor in his office. Josiah was known for his remarkable memory.

In 1905 Josiah purchased and moved to a 109 acre farm near Marquam, OR. He raised cattle and sheep on the farm; and built a barn which is still in use. In 1906, he sold 60 acres of the farm to his son Edwin.

Edwin Hobart

Edwin married Carrie V. Fox on April 4, 1906, and moved to the farm near Marquam in 1907. Edwin had farmed near Silverton prior to his marriage. They had three children: Ethel E. (born January 18, 1908); Irvin E. (born March 31, 1913); and Wilbur E. (born November 1, 1920). All children were born at the farm location.

Edwin raised beef cattle, sheep, chickens, and a few milk cows. He built a new house in 1921 which is still used today, as well as several out buildings: barn, hog house, machine shed, and chicken house. In 1946 he and his wife retired from farming and moved to Silverton. His youngest son, Wilbur, continued with the farm.

Wilbur E. Hobart

Wilbur attended Marquam Grade School and graduated from Woodburn High School in 1939. He also attended Oregon State College before the start of WWII. With his father's health failing, his help was needed on the farm. He married Mabel Piuser on April 21, 1946. They had four children: Irene E. (born February 14, 1949), Lloyd D. (born November 6, 1950), Roxie E. (born June 8, 1952) and Karen A. (born October 16, 1954).

In 1950 Wilbur & Mabel purchased the farm from his parents. They raised beef cattle, hogs, chickens, turkeys, sheep, and ran a small dairy over the years. Hay and grain crops were raised. Their children were involved in planting and harvesting crops and caring for the livestock. In 1972, Wilbur and Mabel sold their dairy cattle after purchasing a wholesale fuel business in Molalla. A small portion of the farm was rented out for crops while Wilbur and his son, Lloyd, continued raising beef cattle, hay, and grain crops. Wilbur died November 19, 1979, leaving the farm to his wife Mabel. The farm has continued to be operated and managed in the same manner since that time.

Mabel Hobart died on January 4, 2005. The children have inherited the farm and will continue with its farm operation and management. Roxie lives on the farm, and Lloyd continues to raise beef cattle, hay, and grain crops.

DEATH SUMMONS EDWIN HOBART, EARLY SETTLER

Joseph French Dies in Portland

Edwin Hobart
Final rites were held yesterday afternoon at Miller cemetery for Edwin Hobart, pioneer resident of the Marquam and Silverton area. Services were held at Molalla.

Mr. Hobart passed away Monday at his home at 529 South Third street in this city at the age of 78. He had been in poor health for some time.

Survivors include the widow, the former Carrie Victoria Fox, two sons, Irvin Hobart of Nashville, and Wilbur of Woodburn; a daughter, Mrs. Raleigh Carothers of Salem; and seven grandchildren.

Mr. Hobart was born Sept. 12, 1876, at Buena Vista. He was married in 1906 to Miss Fox and the couple located on a farm between Silverton and Marquam. They lived there until 1946 when he retired and moved to Silverton because of poor health.

A history of the family dis-closes that his grandparents, Anson and Jane (Lincoln) Hobart and his father, J. W. Hobart, came to Oregon by covered wagon in 1853 from Illinois. The mother was a victim of "mountain fever" near La Grande and died there. The family trudged on, arriving in the Willamette Valley at the onset of winter.
The first night's camp in the Silverton area was spent in a hastily made shelter along the Abi-qua, which was at flood stage, near where the Morley bridge now spans the stream.

In a few days the family found an old deserted school house where they went for temporary housing. Later they purchased a claim with a good cabin about five miles from the present site of Silverton.

One member of the family had the distinction of moving the first lumber into the present townsite of Silverton and actually completed the second residence of the town, although the name of the builder has been lost.

The deceased was a meber of the Marquam Methodist church.

Joseph French
PORTLAND — Funeral services were held here Saturday from St. Ignatius Catholic church for Joseph French of Silverton.
Interment was made in Mt. Scott cemetery. He was 84 years of age.

Mr. French was born in Canada in November 1870, and grew up there. Later, as a young man, he farmed in the Dakotas. He and his family moved to Silverton about 30 years ago.

Racing from Police Also Gets Action

A police creak-down is in the making against youthful and other motorists who are using their cars to make unnecessary loud noises on Silverton streets.

This was the word passed along this week by Police Chief Rell R.
Main who said his department was going to put a stop to the practice of "roaring dual pipes" that has caused the citizenry a lot of headaches in the past several weeks.

Also the police are "cracking down on youthful "motorists" who have been daring them to give chase after some traffic offense with the idea that "it is smart to outrun the police car," the chief explained.

First to be penalized for trying to outrun the police after they gave chase for a traffic violation was Mitchel Ray Witham, 17 year old Woodburn youth.

Witham was fined a total of $135 in municipal court the first of the week and his driver's license suspended for a period of one year and warned of such practice.

The youth paid $25 for failing to heed a police red light and siren; $10 for excessive noise; and $100 for reckless driving.

Police said the Woodburn driver first attracted their attention a week ago and escaped from them out Pine street at speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

When he attempted the same thing Sunday night, the police took him in custody, and he was tried before Police Judge Quintin Estell the following evening.

Chief Main said his department was cooperating with the secretary of state's office in curbing such practices in the interests of traffic safety.
